DEDICATION

"For this is the will of God, that by doing good you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men— as free, yet not using liberty as a cloak for vice, but as bondservants of God. Honor all people. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king."

[1 Peter 2:15-16, Bible, NKJV]

"There is nothing so powerful as truth, and often nothing so strange [foreign or alien]."

[Daniel Webster]

"The Lord watches over the strangers [nonresidents]; He relieves the fatherless and widow; But the way of the wicked He turns upside down."

[Psalm 146:9, Bible, NKJV]

"If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of [domiciled/resident within] the world, but I [Jesus] chose you [believers] out of the world, therefore the world hates you. Remember the word that I said to you, 'A [public] servant is not greater than his [Sovereign] master.' If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also [as trustees of the public trust]. But all these things they will do to you for My name's sake, because they do not know Him [God] who sent Me."

[Jesus in John 15:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

"For our citizenship [and domicile/residence] is in heaven [and not earth], from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ"

[Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

"I am a stranger [statutory "non-resident non-person"] in the earth; Do not hide Your commandments [laws] from me."

[Psalm 119:19, Bible, NKJV]

"I have become a stranger to my brothers, and an alien to my mother's children; because zeal for Your [God's] house has eaten me up, and the reproaches of those who reproach You have fallen on me."

[Psalm 69:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

"Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear to my cry; hold not Your peace at my tears! For I am Your passing guest [transient foreigner], a temporary resident, as all my fathers were."

[Psalm 39:12, Bible, Amplified version]

"Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure [unearned money from the government] that war in your members [and your democratic governments]? You lust [after other people's money] and do not have. You murder [the unborn to increase your standard of living] and covet [the unearned] and cannot obtain [except by empowering your government to STEAL for you!]. You fight and war [against the rich and the nontaxpayers to subsidize your idleness]. Yet you do not have because you do not ask [the Lord, but instead ask the deceitful government]. You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures. Adulterers and adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship with the world [or the governments of the world] is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend ["citizen", "resident", "taxpayer", "inhabitant", "U.S. person", "person", "individual", or "subject"] of the world [or the corrupted governments of the world] makes himself an enemy of God."

[James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

"And Mr. Justice Miller, delivering the opinion of the court [legislating from the bench, in this case], in analyzing the first clause of the [Fourteenth Amendment], observed that "the phrase 'subject to the jurisdiction thereof' was intended to exclude from its operation children of ministers, consuls, and citizens or subjects of foreign states [INCLUDING the "Kingdom of Heaven"], born within the United States."

U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, [169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456; 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

1 Introduction

This document is intended as a worksheet in challenging any kind of civil enforcement authority within constitutional states of the Union. The method of challenging jurisdiction is based on the following premises:

1. There are two types of federal enforcement authority:

1.1. Exclusive jurisdiction under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17.

1.2. Subject matter jurisdiction under Article 1, Section 8.

2. Enforcement authority within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state must involve:

2.1. Subject matter jurisdiction in the states of the Union per Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution. Collectively, we also call this “extraterritorial jurisdiction”.

2.1.1. A military or foreign affairs function under Article 1, Section 8, Clauses 3, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1).

2.1.2. Federal agencies or offices under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 14 and 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1) .

2.1.3. Federal territory (land), chattel property, contracts under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 14, Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution and 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2) .

2.2. Exclusive jurisdiction

2.2.1. The District of Columbia, military bases, and federal reservations under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 and 4 U.S.C. §72.

2.2.2. Federal territories, possessions, and enclaves within the states under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 and Title 48.

3. Choice of law:

3.1. If neither subject matter jurisdiction nor exclusive jurisdiction exists within a state of the Union as indicated above, that the Rules of Decision Act, 28 U.S.C. §1652 dictates the choice of law as being state law instead of federal law.

3.2. The method of publishing statutes and regulations is useful in determining which specific audience section 2 above is intended.

3.2.1. All Legislation of Congress begins as a direct command to the Executive Branch. The Executive Branch Works for the Legislature.

3.2.2. The Federal Register is implemented as a method to give constitutionally required “reasonable notice” of what is expected of people OUTSIDE the government. Before a law or regulation can be enforced against people OUTSIDE the government, it must be published in the Federal Register.

3.2.3. If a statute is enacted without a corresponding implementing regulation published in the Federal Register, then it is intended to apply only to government agencies or offices by default as described above in items 2.1.2 and 2.2.1.

4. PUBLIC v. Private: INSIDE or OUTSIDE the government respectively?

4.1. To be INSIDE the government means to be PUBLIC and protected and regulated by civil statutes.

4.2. To be OUTSIDE the government means to be PRIVATE and protected by the common law and the Bill of Rights.

4.3. CIVIL legislation that only affects people INSIDE the government who are PUBLIC is called “political law” and “civil law”. See:

4.3.1. Political Jurisdiction, Form #05.004

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/PoliticalJurisdiction.pdf>

4.3.2. Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>

4.4. Legislation that only affects people OUTSIDE the government and who are PRIVATE is called “Criminal law”.

4.5. Judicial rulings that only affect people OUTSIDE the government who are PRIVATE are called “Common law” and “Equity”.

4.5.1. They need no legislation to enforce.

4.5.2. If legislation is involved then by definition, they are not common law or equity proceedings.

4.5.3. There is no federal common law within the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the Union. Common law derived from state courts is the only common law applicable there. See Erie Railroad v. Tomkins, 304 U.S. 64 (1938).

4.6. Civil obligations such as tax liability that ORIGINATE in ONLY regulations and NOT the statute the regulation implements pertain only to officers and agents of the government. Otherwise, there is unconstitutional slavery in

- violation of the Thirteenth Amendment. This is because 5 U.S.C. §301 authorizes the head of a department to write regulations for officers and agents who work for him, but not for anyone outside his department.
- 4.7. Civil statutes that do not have corresponding implementing regulations are intended only for people INSIDE the government who are PUBLIC. It is ILLEGAL to enforce them against people OUTSIDE the government who are PRIVATE:

TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552
§ 552. Public information; agency rules, opinions, orders, records, and proceedings

(a)(1) [. . .] Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms thereof, a person may not in any manner be required to resort to, or be adversely affected by, a matter required to be published in the Federal Register and not so published. For the purpose of this paragraph, matter reasonably available to the class of persons affected thereby is deemed published in the Federal Register when incorporated by reference therein with the approval of the Director of the Federal Register.

26 C.F.R. §601.702 Publication and public inspection

(a)(2)(ii) Effect of failure to publish. Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference will not adversely change or affect a person's rights.

- 4.8. In any and every enforcement action, the government has the burden of proving you are lawfully elected or appointed as a PUBLIC agent or officer of the government if there are no enforcement regulations. If they cannot satisfy that burden of proof, the civil enforcement action must be DISMISSED and if it isn't, a constitutional tort has occurred.

5. Agency and Office:

- 5.1. Membership as an officer or agent of the government is the main method of surrendering private property and private rights to the government. See:

How You Lose Constitutional or Natural Rights, Form #10.015
<https://sedm.org/Forms/10-Emancipation/HowLoseConstOrNatRights.pdf>

- 5.2. Consenting to any form of membership in the government converts your legal or civil status from PRIVATE to PUBLIC. Examples of such membership include civil statutory “persons”, “residents”, “citizens”, “drivers”, etc.

- 5.3. Civil franchises are the method by which membership and the obligations of membership are enforced.

- 5.3.1. They attach to a CIVIL or LEGAL status.
5.3.2. They convey PRIVILEGES in exchange for OBLIGATIONS.
5.3.3. They are consensual and implemented with civil statutory law.

- 5.4. There are THREE types of Membership:

- 5.4.1. POLITICAL membership based on an act of BIRTH or NATURALIZATION.

- 5.4.1.1. Is not always voluntary. An act of birth is not an act of consent.
5.4.1.2. This is the origin of NATIONALITY, ALLEGIANCE, and being a “national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).
5.4.1.3. This type of membership is documented in the Constitution and equates with CONSTITUTIONAL “citizens”.

- 5.4.2. CIVIL LEGAL membership based on voluntary DOMICILE.

- 5.4.2.1. Is based on consent and always voluntary.
5.4.2.2. STATUTORY “citizens” and “residents” are the two types of members.
5.4.2.3. Is the origin of civil jurisdiction and civil statutory law.
5.4.2.4. Is the origin of the right to vote and serve on jury duty.
5.4.2.4.1. You cannot do either without a domicile.
5.4.2.4.2. Is the origin of what the Supreme Court calls “the Body Politic”, which is the collective group that represents “the State”.
5.4.2.5. Produces a SURRENDER of constitutional rights under the Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court. See:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>

- 1 5.4.2.6. The collection of all obligations found in the civil law constitute PRIVATE property donated to a
2 public use, a public purpose, and a public office to procure the “benefits” of CIVIL membership.
3 5.4.3. FRANCHISE membership based on voluntary franchise participation.
4 5.4.3.1. This membership operates INDEPENDENT of CIVIL legal membership but still layers on TOP of 5 CIVIL LEGAL membership by having domicile as a prerequisite.
6 5.4.3.2. This includes Social Security, Medicare, driver licensing, marriage licensing, and professional 7 licensing.
8 5.4.3.3. SSN and TIN are the method of instantiating those acting as franchise members. The FTC calls these 9 “franchise marks”.
10 5.5. Most people are blissfully unaware that CIVIL STATUTORY obligations ALWAYS involve voluntary LEGAL 11 membership through domicile and NEVER involve POLITICAL membership. Mere allegiance as a national by 12 birth or naturalization only establishes POLITICAL membership and constitutional courts cannot hear political 13 questions.
14 6. Litigation
15 6.1. Courts cannot rule on POLITICAL questions.
16 6.2. Courts can only adjudicate common law, CIVIL, or CRIMINAL actions.
17 6.3. CIVIL and CRIMINAL actions are statutory.
18 6.4. Common law actions are not statutory. The common law only operates where the statutory law does not apply.

19 2 Sequence of How Laws are Made Determines Who it Applies To

20 The following table documents the process of publishing, promulgating, and ratifying law and the parties affected at each 21 stage of the process.

2 NOTES:

- 3 1. The above diagram shows the process by which laws are made, and how they trickle their way down during their evolution to become the Statutes at Large (SAL),
- 4 the U.S. Code, and the Code of Federal Regulations (C.F.R.).
- 5 2. The chronology is vertical and begins at the top and trickles its way through time to the bottom almost like a Pachinko Machine:
- 6 <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pachinko>
- 7 3. Chronologically, a lawfully enacted law item over time falls to the level below it as an input.
- 8 3.1. The INPUT on a given level in Column 2 derives from the OUTPUT on the level above it in column 4, for instance.
- 9 3.2. The further down the vertical hierarchy a law goes, the larger the audience for its enforcement.

3.3. If an item does NOT involve a foreign affairs function, then it can't affect a private human until it reaches Row #6. See 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(1) and 26 C.F.R. §601.702.

3.4. Federal enforcement authority is documented in:

Federal Enforcement Authority Within States of the Union, Form #05.032 (Member Subscriptions)
<https://sedm.org/product/federal-enforcement-authority-within-states-of-the-union-form-05-032/>

4. The horizontal axis represents the entities affected by that law or regulation, divided between INSIDE the government and OUTSIDE the government.

4.1. The column INSIDE refers to activities within the government involving only government officers and agents. This is the origin of the word “INTERNAL” within the phrase “INTERNAL Revenue Service”.

4.2. The column OUTSIDE refers to enforcement activities by government actors AGAINST private humans protected by the Constitution within the exclusive jurisdiction of a Constitutional state and abroad. These people are all NONRESIDENT ALIENS. See:

4.2.1. Proof that American Nationals are Nonresident Aliens, Form #09.081

<https://sedm.org/Forms/09-Procs/ProofAnNRA.pdf>

4.2.2. Nonresident Alien Position Course, Form #12.045

<https://sedm.org/LibertyU/NRA.pdf>

4.2.3. Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020

4.2.4. Rebutted False Arguments About the Nonresident Alien Position When Used by American Nationals, Form #08.031

4.3. Franchisees are listed as WITHIN the government because franchises are always implemented with offices. See:

4.3.1. Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Franchises.pdf>

4.3.2. Proof That There is a “Straw Man”, Form #05.042

4.3.3. Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>

4.4. A public officer in this scenario is merely anyone that the government can CIVILLY enforce against. CIVIL obligations are property, and being able to enforce is a TAKING of property that requires consent to become an officer before hand. Otherwise, it would be a common law trespass:

"The term office' has no legal or technical meaning attached to it, distinct from its ordinary acceptations. An office is a public charge or employment; but, as every employment is not an office, it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between employments which are and those which are not offices....A public officer is one who has some duty to perform concerning the public; and he is not the less a public officer when his duty is confined to narrow limits, because it is the duty, and the nature of that duty, which makes him a public officer, and not the extent of his authority.' 7 Bac. Abr. 280; Carth. 479.... Where an employment or duty is a continuing [65] one, which is defined by rules prescribed by law and not by contract, such a charge or employment is an office, and the person who performs it is an officer...."
[Ricker's Petition, 66 N.H. 207 (1890)]

By “public” above, they mean the “State” or the “Body politic”. STATUTORY civil obligations require MEMBERSHIP in the “State” effected through VOLUNTARY DOMICILE.

4.5. It is a Third Rail Issue that participating in government franchises requires you to have an office within or act as an agent of the government. See:

Third Rail Government Issues, Form #08.032

4.6. NO ONE can FORCE you into a franchise office position. If they do, it is a violation of the Thirteenth Amendment. Even if you APPLIED to participate, you STILL are not OBLIGATED to participate and can be OFF DUTY during times of YOUR choosing.

1 4.7. Whether you are ON DUTY INSIDE the government or OFF DUTY OUTSIDE the government depends on whether you invoked the FRANCHISE MARK in
2 connection with specific property. By FRANCHISE MARK, we mean the Social Security Number or the Taxpayer Identification Number. These
3 FRANCHISE MARKS constitute a de facto license to represent the state as an officer of the state. Voluntarily attaching the FRANCHISE MARK to specific
4 otherwise PRIVATE property constitutes consent or an “election” to donate PRIVATE property to a PUBLIC use, a PUBLIC PURPOSE, and a PUBLIC
5 OFFICE to procure the “benefits” of the franchise. See:

About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/AboutSSNsAndTINs.pdf>

6 5. The various entities listed above include:

7 5.1. Office of the Federal Register

8 <https://www.archives.gov/federal-register/about>

9 5.2. Office of the Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives.

3 Application to Income Tax

3.1 Determining who the audience for income enforcement regulations are

Every subject matter of regulation and taxation involves different AUDIENCES for the enforcement regulations. Each audience has a regulation “PART” that corresponds to that specific audience. When an enforcement regulation is published, it must be targeted to a SPECIFIC audience for that regulation working in the correct location within the government or the correct geographical location. Even if there is an implementing regulation for a specific statute, if it notices the WRONG audience, then it may not be enforced against any OTHER audience. For instance, if the regulation targets only the IRS and its employees (PUBLIC SIDE), then it may NOT be enforced against anyone else, INCLUDING ESPECIALLY people within states of the Union who are PRIVATE and don’t work for the government.

1. By default, every statute passed by Congress is a DIRECT LEGISLATIVE COMMAND to the Executive Branch and may not be disregarded and can be enforced in court if need be, through either CIVIL or CRIMINAL litigation.
2. The Executive Branch, in turn, is WITHIN the government and therefore PUBLIC.
3. Every subject matter of legislation targets a SPECIFIC Department WITHIN the Executive Branch. In the case of income tax, that department is the Treasury Department.
4. If legislation pertains to income tax and ALSO targets people in the PRIVATE sector who are OUTSIDE the Treasury Department and the government, then the Treasury must then write IMPLEMENTING regulations to enforce the statutes targeted at people OUTSIDE the government on the PRIVATE side in order to ENFORCE. This gives the constitutionally required REASONABLE NOTICE to the members of the PUBLIC who are affected and gives them the opportunity for public notice and comment before the final regulations are approved.
5. The implementing regulations are first published in the Federal Register to give the proper reasonable notice to the affected audience and invite comment.
6. The Treasury Department then collects the comments and finally publishes final regulations again in the Federal Register.
7. After the Final Regulations are published in the Federal Register, they then are codified in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) and become enforceable ONLY against the audience they are targeted at and NO ONE else.
8. Some regulations are general in nature and apply to any subject matter within the Title.
 - 8.1. For instance, 26 C.F.R. Parts 301 and 601 apply to the IRS within the Department of the Treasury but not to the public. They tell the IRS how to implement a specific statute within Title 26.
 - 8.2. An additional regulation must be published under 26 C.F.R. Part 1 as notice to “taxpayers” who are targeted for enforcement OUTSIDE the IRS and in the PRIVATE sector before they can be lawfully be enforced against.
9. The audience that an implementing regulation is targeted at is determined by the PART within the C.F.R. that the regulation is published in. Each Part usually has a specific audience in mind. That audience is usually determined by the definitions limiting the enforcement. For instance:
 - 9.1. 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) defines “person” for the purposes of CIVIL penalties.
 - 9.2. 26 U.S.C. §7343 defines “person” for the purposes of CRIMINAL enforcement.BOTH of the above definitions, by the way, target the SAME audience, and ALL of them are PRIVILEGES agents or offices of the government “organized or created” under the laws of Congress and therefore PUBLIC in nature. They DO NOT include PRIVATE parties, such as human beings not exercising agency or office in connection with the government, or the TRUSTS they create which are unenfranchised.
10. Those in the PRIVATE sector within the Constitutional states of the Union who are targeted for enforcement without implementing regulations are in effect the victims of criminal identity theft as documented in:

Identity Theft Affidavit, Form #14.020

https://sedm.org/Forms/14-PropProtection/Identity_Theft_Affidavit-f14039.pdf

For instance, in the case of the income tax the table below describes the various PARTS of the regulation and their specific audience:

Table 2: Income Tax Regulation Parts

#	Regulation Part	Subject Matter	Audience	"Person" targeted for enforcement	Private or Public?	Regulation Section	Author
1	1	Income Taxes	Taxpayers	Generally: 26 U.S.C. §7701(c) generally Enforcement: 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) 26 U.S.C. §7343	PRIVATE	26 C.F.R. Chapter 1, Subchapter A: Income Taxes	Secretary of the Treasury
2	31	Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax at Source	Employers	Enforcement: 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) 26 U.S.C. §7343	PUBLIC	26 C.F.R. Chapter 1, Subchapter C: Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax at Source	Secretary of the Treasury
3	301	IRS Administration of all taxes	IRS Employees and Licensed Tax Practitioners	IRS/Treasury Employees	PUBLIC	26 C.F.R. Chapter 1, Subchapter F: Procedures and Administration	Secretary of the Treasury
4	601	Internal Revenue Practice		IRS/Treasury Employees	PUBLIC	26 C.F.R. Chapter 1, Subchapter H: Statement of Procedural Rules	Secretary of the Treasury

In looking at the above chart, we must remember that:

- "Government" in a legal sense is a fiction of law and a corporation per 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A) and consists ONLY of:
 - OFFICES or AGENTS.
 - PROPERTY, whether TANGIBLE (physical) or INTANGIBLE (virtual, such as contracts or payments).
- The income tax is enforced by the "INTERNAL Revenue Service". The implication is that it may only be enforced against those INTERNAL to the government as agents and officers. See:

Origins and Authority of the Internal Revenue Service, Form #05.005
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/OrigAuthIRS.pdf>
- If there is NO enforcement regulation at all, the statute is only enforceable against government agents and officers. Hence, it is INTERNAL to the government.
- Even if there is an enforcement regulation, it may not be enforced against any audience OTHER than the targeted audience who received notice of its publication. This means that if the IRS is the target audience on the PUBLIC side, the PRIVATE side cannot be targeted for enforcement.
- In order to target the TAXPAYER audience, enforcement regulations must be published under 26 C.F.R. Part 1 and NO OTHER PART. 26 C.F.R. Part 301 only pertains to the IRS and its licensed Tax Practitioners, who are acting as AGENTS of the government and therefore in a PUBLIC capacity.
- There are TWO types of enforcement: CIVIL and CRIMINAL. The following sections document the CIVIL and CRIMINAL enforcement authority SEPARATELY, all the statutes that accomplish the enforcement, and whether or not there are enforcement regulations targeting a PRIVATE audience OUTSIDE the government, which is PUBLIC.

PARALLEL TABLE OF AUTHORITIES AND RULES

The following table lists rulemaking authority (except 5 U.S.C. 301) for regulations codified in the Code of Federal Regulations. Also included are statutory citations which are noted as being interpreted or applied by those regulations.

The table is divided into four segments: United States Code citations, United States Statutes at Large citations, public law citations, and Presidential document citations. Within each segment the citations are arranged in numerical order:

For the United States Code, by title and section;

For the United States Statutes at Large, by volume and page number;

For public laws, by number; and

Entries in the table are taken directly from the rulemaking authority citation provided by Federal agencies in their regulations. Federal agencies are responsible for keeping these citations current and accurate. Because Federal agencies sometimes present these citations in an inconsistent manner, the table cannot be considered all-inclusive.

The portion of the table listing the United States Code citations is the most comprehensive, as these citations are entered into the table whenever they are given in the authority citations provided by the agencies. United States Statutes at Large and public law citations are carried in the table only when there are no corresponding United States Code citations given.

This table is revised as of January 1, 2009.

You

Isn't 5 U.S.C. 301 the origin of 26 C.F.R. Part 301? The Parallel Table of Authorities says it is:
https://www.govinfo.gov/media/parallel_table_2009.pdf

ChatGPT

Yes, you are correct. 5 U.S.C. 301 provides authority to agencies within the U.S. federal government to prescribe regulations to carry out their functions. Therefore, it can be considered the origin of 26 C.F.R. Part 301, which contains regulations related to the administration of the Internal Revenue Code by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The Parallel Table of Authorities you referenced confirms this relationship.

- The only “persons” liable for penalties related to ANY tax are federal corporations or their employees.

2. 26 U.S.C. §6201 is the only statute authorizing assessment instituted by the Secretary, and this assessment may only be accomplished under 6201(a)(2) for taxes payable by stamp and not on a return, all of which are tobacco and alcohol taxes.
3. The only statutory collection activity authorized is under 26 U.S.C. §§6331 and 6331(a) of this section only authorizes levy against elected or appointed officers of the U.S. government. The only other type of collection that can occur must be the result of a court order and NOT either a Notice of Levy or a Notice of Seizure.

Sec. 6331. Levy and distraint

(a) Authority of Secretary

If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax (and such further sum as shall be sufficient to cover the expenses of the levy) by levy upon all property and rights to property (except such property as is exempt under section 6334) belonging to such person or on which there is a lien provided in this chapter for the payment of such tax. Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer (as defined in section 3401(d)) of such officer, employee, or elected official. If the Secretary makes a finding that the collection of such tax is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the Secretary and, upon failure or refusal to pay such tax, collection thereof by levy shall be lawful without regard to the 10-day period provided in this section.

(b) Seizure and sale of property

The term "levy" as used in this title includes the power of distraint and seizure by any means. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (e), a levy shall extend only to property possessed and obligations existing at the time thereof. In any case in which the Secretary may levy upon property or rights to property, he may seize and sell such property or rights to property (whether real or personal, tangible or intangible).

4. The only IRS agents who are authorized to execute any of the enforcement activity listed above must carry a pocket commission which designates them as "E" for enforcement rather than "A" for administrative.
5. For the purposes of all taxes above, the term "employee" is defined as follows:

26 U.S.C. §3401(c)

Employee

For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" includes [is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a corporation.

26 C.F.R. §31.3401(c)-1 Employee:

"...the term [employee] includes officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an officer of a corporation."

8 Federal Register, Tuesday, September 7, 1943, §404.104, pg. 12267

Employee: “The term employee specifically includes officers and employees whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof or the District of Columbia or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing.”

NOTES:

1. Based on the above table, the ONLY criminal provisions within the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle F, Chapter 75, Subchapter A, Part 1 which have implementing regulations authorizing enforcement are:
 - 1.1. 26 U.S.C. §7207 Fraudulent returns, statements, or other documents
 - 1.2. 26 U.S.C. §7209 Unauthorized use or sale of stamps
 - 1.3. 26 U.S.C. §7214 Offenses by officers or employees of the United States
 - 1.4. 26 U.S.C. §7216 Disclosure or use of information by preparers of returns
2. The ONLY authorized audience for the above enforcement is IRS employees within the Treasury Department, which in turn is within the Executive Branch.
3. There are NO PRIVATE people who are the proper target of IRS enforcement within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Constitutional States of the Union.
4. The MOST frequent subject for tax prosecutions is the following:
 - 4.1. 26 U.S.C. §7203 Willful failure to file return, supply information, or pay tax. No implementing regulations.
 - 4.2. 26 U.S.C. §7207 Fraudulent returns, statements, or other documents. This has implementing regulations but the only lawful target is IRS agents and employees.
5. EVERYONE who is prosecuted for tax crimes OUTSIDE the IRS is, in fact a victim of CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT as described in:

Identity Theft Affidavit, Form #14.020
https://sedm.org/Forms/14-PropProtection/Identity Theft Affidavit-f14039.pdf
6. Everyone EXCEPT IRS employees or agents WITHIN the Treasury Department itself is a volunteer, as documented in:

How State Nationals Volunteer to Pay Income Tax, Form #08.024
<https://sedm.org/Forms/08-PolicyDocs/HowYouVolForIncomeTax.pdf>
7. When you volunteer, you in effect become an agent or officer of the IRS itself subject to the direct supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury under the delegated authority of 5 U.S.C. §301. This is because the Secretary of the Treasury has no delegated authority to write regulations for:
 - 7.1. People OUTSIDE his department within the U.S. government.
 - 7.2. People who are PRIVATE and therefore retain all the protections of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. The ability to regulate or tax or even control PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights is, in fact, REPUGNANT to the constitution.
8. For all intents and purposes, the “United States” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) means the District of Columbia as the seat of government.

9. Every “taxpayer” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) is in fact an officer or agent within the Department of the Treasury, and more specifically the Internal Revenue Service. This is why the IRS is named the “INTERNAL Revenue Service” (INTERNAL to the U.S. Government, not INTERNAL to the GEOGRAPHY “United States”).

10. The Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) functions in effect as a de facto LICENSE to represent an office or position within the INTERNAL Revenue Service. See:

About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/AboutSSNsAndTINs.pdf>

11. Now do you know why the Bible says the following?:

For thus says the Lord:

*“You have sold yourselves for nothing,
And you shall be redeemed without money.”
[Isaiah 52:3, Bible, NKJV]*

*“My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.”
[Hosea 4:6, Bible, NKJV]*

*“...it is not good for a soul to be without knowledge,”
[Prov. 19:2, Bible, NKJV]*

*“...we should no longer be [presumptuous] children, tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, in the cunning craftiness of deceitful plotting, but speaking the truth in love, may grow up in all things into Him who is the head—Christ.”
[Eph. 4:14, Bible, NKJV]*

*“One who turns his ear from hearing the law [God's law or man's law], even his prayer is an abomination.”
[Prov. 28:9, Bible, NKJV]*

*“But this crowd that does not know [and quote and follow and use] the law is accursed.”
[John 7:49, Bible, NKJV]*

*“Salvation is far from the wicked, For they do not seek Your [God's] statutes.”
[Psalm 119:155, Bible, NKJV]*

12. Now do you know why when they went after getting an injunction of SEDM starting in 2005 and the Respondent used the content of this memorandum as his ONLY defense, they discontinued all enforcement against SEDM since then?

13. Now do you know why we have the following mission?

*“Is this not the fast [act of faith, worship, and OBEDIENCE] that I [God] have chosen [for believers]:
To loose the bonds of wickedness,
To undo the heavy burdens,
To let the oppressed go free,
And that you break every yoke [franchise, contract, tie, dependency, or “benefit” with the government]?”
[Isaiah 58:6, Bible, NKJV]*

1 "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon Me,
2 *Because the Lord has anointed Me
3 To preach good tidings to the poor;
4 He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
5 To proclaim liberty to the [government] captives
6 And the opening of the prison [government FARM, Form #12.020] to those who are bound;
7 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord,
8 And the day of vengeance of our God;"
9 [Isaiah 61:1-2, Bible, NKJV]

3.4 What this all means for tax enforcement

The list below succinctly describes how the income tax works and how you volunteer in a nutshell:

1. The STATUTORY “U.S. person” defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) is intangible property called a “res” with a SITUS in D.C. It is described in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) and (d) as a public officer representing the federal corporation “United States” in 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A):
2. The CIVIL STATUTORY “person” in 26 U.S.C. §§6671(b) and 7343 is the custodian of PUBLIC property and surety for it. Namely, PRIVATE property donated to a public use, a public purpose, and a public office by the otherwise PRIVATE volunteer officer to procure the “benefits” of a national franchise as described in:

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Franchises.pdf>
3. The CIVIL STATUTORY “person” is a creation of Congress and property of Congress and a position in the treasury. See:

Policy Document: IRS Fraud and Deception with the Statutory Word “Person”, Form #08.023
<https://sedm.org/Forms/08-PolicyDocs/IRSPerson.pdf>
4. The OWNER of the civil statutory “U.S. person” and “person” position is the Secretary of the Treasury.
 - 4.1. Each head of department is delegated authority under 5 U.S.C. §301 to manage all PROPERTY in his department and to write “all needful rules” respecting such property in the form of implementing regulations published in the Federal Register and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations.
 - 4.2. That property INCLUDES all officers, agents, and positions within his department INCLUDING the “U.S. person” and “person” offices.
 - 4.3. 5 U.S.C. §301 DOES NOT empower the Secretary to manage PEOPLE, PROPERTY or offices OUTSIDE his department. IMPORTANT! So the “taxpayer” HAS to be WITHIN the Department of Treasury.
5. When you make a “status election” of CIVIL STATUTORY “U.S. person” or its subclasses, “citizen” or “resident, you in effect volunteer for a position within the Department of the Treasury of CIVIL STATUTORY “person” or “taxpayer”.
 - 5.1. You thus become surety for the position and become a “resident agent” for a remote office that has a domicile or situs all its own.
 - 5.2. You thus transition from PRIVATE and FOREIGN to PUBLIC and DOMESTIC. By FOREIGN we mean OUTSIDE the government. By DOMESTIC we mean INSIDE the government as a public officer for U.S. Inc. federal corporation under 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A).
 - 5.3. States do the same thing when LLCs and Corporations register with the Secretary of state: You have to specify a resident agent who need not be domiciled in the state but must agree to accept service of process and mail for the entity. See:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>
6. You then have to answer the mail for the “person” fiction beyond that point and manage its affairs, including satisfying all of its obligations.
 - 6.1. The cost of performing these functions is paid by the “benefits” of the voluntary position.
 - 6.2. The BENEFITS or COMPENSATION of the position are deductions, free healthcare, etc. The obligations are FIRTPA withholding, filing returns, FBAR reporting, etc.
7. Property gets voluntarily connected to the U.S. person res and donated to a public use, public purpose, and public office by associating it with a franchise mark (TIN). See:

About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/AboutSSNsAndTINs.pdf>
8. Because “U.S. person” is a creation of and property of Uncle, it is literally PART of the government. The only thing that makes up the government is in fact:
 - 8.1. OFFICES and
 - 8.2. PROPERTY.
9. The income tax then is just a RENTAL fee for the use of GOVERNMENT/PUBLIC property in the form of an office or position in the Department of Treasury.
10. THUS, the income tax is INTERNAL to the government and “INTERNAL Revenue Service” means INTERNAL to the government.
11. The income tax is VOLUNTARY BECAUSE:
 - 11.1. You have to volunteer for the positions of “U.S. person”, “person”, “citizen”, “resident”, and “taxpayer”.

11.2. There are NO ENFORCEMENT REGULATIONS authorizing enforcement for anyone OUTSIDE the government. See:

Challenging Jurisdiction Worksheet, Form #09.082
<https://sedm.org/Forms/09-Procs/ChalJurWorksheet.pdf>

11.3. The following EXHAUSTIVELY PROVES you are a volunteer who works in the IRS for the Secretary of the Treasury:

How State Nationals Volunteer to Pay Income Tax, Form #08.024
<https://sedm.org/Forms/08-PolicyDocs/HowYouVolForIncomeTax.pdf>

12. Therefore, when you file a 1040, you make an election to be treated as a "resident agent" of an office or position PHYSICALLY and GEOGRAPHICALLY domiciled or situated in DC.

12.1. The income tax is the annual "rent" to renew the office.

12.2. If you don't want the office, abandon it and stopping paying the rent.

12.3. Those who don't consent to the office or position are called "nonresident aliens", and no duties attach to their PRIVATE and FOREIGN "person", because they abandoned the "person" described in 26 U.S.C. §§6671(b) and 7343.

The legal definition of "privilege" confirms the above process:

Privilege. A particular benefit or advantage enjoyed by a person, company, or class beyond the common advantages of other citizens. An exceptional or extraordinary power or exemption. A peculiar right, advantage, exemption, power, franchise, or immunity held by a person or class, not generally possessed by others.

In tort law, the ability to act contrary to another individual's legal right without that individual having legal redress for the consequences of that act; usually raised by the actor as a defense.

An exemption from some burden of attendance, with which certain persons are indulged, from a supposition of law that the stations they fill, or the offices they are engaged in, are such as require all their time and care, and that, therefore, without this indulgence, it would be impracticable to execute such offices to that advantage which the public good requires. That which releases one from the performance of a duty or obligation, or exempts one from a liability which he would otherwise be required to perform, or sustain in common with all other persons. See also Exemption; Immunity.
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1197]

Every privilege therefore comes with an ASSOCIATED office or CIVIL STATUTORY STATUS to which CIVIL obligations attach. That office is called a "station" or "office" above. All such offices cannot be FORCED on you. You MUST volunteer or unconstitutional slavery is the result. Thus, you have a RIGHT to REFUSE all benefits and privileges and the CIVIL obligations inextricably attached to them. If you DON'T, then you are literally a SLAVE in every meaningful way.

James Madison, one of our most revered founding fathers, EXACTLY predicted the above tax collection process, when he said the following in the Federalist Papers:

"It is true, that the Confederacy is to possess, and may exercise, the power of collecting internal as well as external taxes throughout the States; but it is probable that this power will not be resorted to, except for supplemental purposes of revenue; that an option will then be given to the States to supply their quotas by previous collections of their own; and that the eventual collection, under the immediate authority of the Union, will generally be made by the officers, and according to the rules, appointed by the several States. Indeed it is extremely probable, that in other instances, particularly in the organization of the judicial power, the officers of the States will be clothed with the correspondent authority of the Union."

"Should it happen, however, that separate collectors of internal revenue should be appointed under the federal government, the influence of the whole number would not bear a comparison with that of the multitude of State officers in the opposite scale."

"Within every district to which a federal collector would be allotted, there would not be less than thirty or forty, or even more, officers of different descriptions, and many of them persons of character and weight, whose influence would lie on the side of the State. The powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and indefinite. The former will be exercised principally on external objects, as war, peace, negotiation, and foreign commerce; with which last the power of taxation will, for the most part, be connected. The powers reserved to the several States will extend to all the objects which, in the ordinary course of affairs, concern the lives, liberties, and properties of the people, and the internal order, improvement, and prosperity of the State. The operations of the federal government will be most extensive and important in times of war and danger; those of the State governments, in times of peace and security. As the former periods will probably bear a small proportion to the latter, the State governments will here enjoy another advantage over the federal government. The more adequate, indeed, the federal powers may be rendered to the national defense, the less frequent will be those scenes of danger which might favor their ascendancy over the governments of the particular States. "[Federalist Paper No 45 (Jan. 1788), James Madison]

Madison also said the following about the ABUSE of the above tax collection power to offer or enforce benefits, privileges, and franchises to ordinary people, including Social Security, Medicare, Affordable Care Act, etc. Thus, these programs are ONLY legitimate within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress on federal territory where the constitution does NOT apply:

"With respect to the words general welfare, I have always regarded them as qualified by the detail of powers connected with them. To take them in a literal and unlimited sense would be a metamorphosis of the Constitution into a character which there is a host of proofs was not contemplated by its creator."

"If Congress can employ money indefinitely to the general welfare, and are the sole and supreme judges of the general welfare, they may take the care of religion into their own hands; they may appoint teachers in every State, county and parish and pay them out of their public treasury; they may take into their own hands the education of children, establishing in like manner schools throughout the Union; they may assume the provision of the poor; they may undertake the regulation of all roads other than post-roads; in short, every thing, from the highest object of state legislation down to the most minute object of police, would be thrown under the power of Congress.... Were the power of Congress to be established in the latitude contended for, it would subvert the very foundations, and transmute the very nature of the limited Government established by the people of America."

"If Congress can do whatever in their discretion can be done by money, and will promote the general welfare, the government is no longer a limited one possessing enumerated powers, but an indefinite one subject to particular exceptions."
[James Madison. House of Representatives, February 7, 1792, On the Cod Fishery Bill, granting Bounties]

4 Every instance of exceeding jurisdiction originates from destruction of the Separation of Powers between the Constitutional States and the National Government

"In the tension between federal and state power lies the promise of liberty."
[Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452]

"We start with first principles. The Constitution creates a Federal Government of enumerated powers. See U.S. Const., Art. I, § 8. As James Madison wrote, "[t]he powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and indefinite." The Federalist No. 45, pp. 292-293 (C. Rossiter ed. 1961). This constitutionally mandated division of authority "was adopted by the Framers to ensure protection of our fundamental liberties." Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452, 458 (1991) (internal quotation marks omitted). "Just as the separation and independence of the coordinate branches of the Federal Government serves to prevent the accumulation of excessive power in any one branch, a healthy balance of power between the States and the Federal Government will reduce the risk of tyranny and abuse from either front."
[U.S. v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549 (1995)]

"The well-being of the whole depends upon keeping each department within its limits. In the State government, several instances have occurred where a legislative act, has been rendered inoperative by a judicial decision, that it was unconstitutional; and even under the Federal government the judges, for the same reason, have refused to execute an act of Congress. ^{FN*} When, in short, either branch of the government usurps that part of the sovereignty, which the Constitution assigns to another branch, liberty ends, and tyranny commences."
[The Betsey, 3 U.S. 6 (1794)]

We cover the Separation of Powers Doctrine at the heart of the United States Constitution in:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/SeparationOfPowers.pdf>

Every instance of the national government exceeding its jurisdiction originates from efforts to break down the constitutional separation of powers between the Constitutional states of the Union and the National government. Below is a summary of those efforts:

1. Aspects of the separation of powers that are used to accomplish the breakdown:

- 1.1. Government franchises. This includes licensing, government identification, entitlements (benefits), and civil domicile.
- 1.2. Legal deception and fraud. This is done with equivocation on forms and in court rulings.
- 1.3. Identity theft. This is the RESULT of the legal deception that ropes people INTO the franchises.
- 1.4. Greed. States wanting federal goodies surrender their obligation to protect citizens by maintaining the separation of powers in exchange for money.
- 1.5. Consent (comity) in some form:
 - 1.5.1. Consent of individuals.
 - 1.5.2. Consent of the States.
 - 1.5.3. Consent of the National government.

2. Citizenship

- 2.1. Citizenship terms are being systematically obfuscated and equivocated. Domicile is being equivocated with nationality so that they are viewed incorrectly as being equivalent.
- 2.2. Our Exhibit #01.008 proves that the Hague Convention on distinguishing NATIONALITY from DOMICILE has deliberately not been translated into English because statist don't want the masses to understand the distinctions. See:

Convention Relating to the Settlement of the Conflicts Between the Law of Nationality and the Law of Domicile [Anno Domini 1955], Exhibit #01.008
<https://sedm.org/Exhibits/EX01.008.pdf>

- 2.3. Domicile and nationality are NOT equivalent and may not be equivocated.
- 2.4. There are two contexts for the word "citizen": CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY.
- 2.5. CONSTITUTIONAL or Fourteenth Amendment citizens are equivalent to "nationals" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).
- 2.6. STATUTORY citizens, meaning those who are "nationals" AND who have a domicile in a specific locale are subject to the CIVIL STATUTORY laws they maintain a domicile within. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

- 2.7. Judges are compelling living people protected by the Bill of Rights to have a civil domicile and thus be subject to civil statutory law and thereby be "subjects". For living humans who want no such domicile and prefer Constitutional or common law protects that are NOT voluntary, this constitutes criminal human trafficking. See section 15 of the link in the previous item.
- 2.8. For exhaustive documentation explaining equivocation with citizenship terms to equivocate CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY citizenship in order to criminally kidnap people into federal jurisdiction, see:

Why You are a "national", "State National", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/WhyANational.pdf>

3. Judges and federal courthouses:

- 3.1. Judges are maliciously equivocating with the word "citizen" so that they don't accurately distinguish between CONSTITUTIONAL citizens in the Fourteenth Amendment and STATUTORY citizens in 8 U.S.C. §1401 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c).
- 3.2. Courts are fraudulently and erroneously misrepresenting the applicability of the "nonresident alien" position to the average American, who is an American National. See:

Rebutted False Arguments About the Nonresident Alien Position When Used by American Nationals, Form #08.031
<https://sedm.org/Forms/08-PolicyDocs/RebArgNRA.pdf>

- 3.3. Real ID Act forbids anyone from entering a federal courthouse without Real ID compliance if they use state issued ID. Real ID, in turn, requires a Social Security Number that is ILLEGALLY issued to ineligible parties.

Thus, federal franchises are being abused to invade the states of the Union and destroy the separation of powers in violation of the License Tax Cases.

4. Income tax:

4.1. IRS is misrepresenting what a “citizen” is in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c).

4.2. IRS is misrepresenting the status of Americans Nationals by saying they have a STATUTORY “residence”. The only type of “residents” or “residence” in the Internal Revenue Code is that of an ALIEN. See 26 C.F.R. §1.871-2. There is NO definition of “residence” in the I.R.C. or the 26 C.F.R. in connection with a STATUTORY “citizen” or “national”.

4.3. The term “nonresident alien” described in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) is being obfuscated to make it a description rather than a definition. A legal definition expressly describes ALL things that are included, with the idea of excluding everything that is not mentioned.

4.4. IRS is interfering with efforts to discover methods and forms available to change the status of an SSN in 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(g)(1)(i). See:

Request and response for NRA Change Form Relating to SSN, Exhibit #09.044

https://sedm.org/Exhibits/EX09.044-

Request%20and%20Response%20IRS%20FOIA%20for%20NRA%20Change%20form.pdf

4.5. Burden of proof rules for proving that one is a “nonresident alien” are being turned upside down so that those adopting the status have to prove they are NOT the “citizen” falsely described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). It is a legal impossibility in most cases to prove a negative and injustice to even have to. Burden of proof remains with the IRS that the people they “service” consented to be privileged CIVIL statutory “taxpayers”, “citizens”, “residents” with a domicile within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress before they may be taxed. They are innocent until proven guilty on this account, as required by the rules of jurisprudence and the Declaration of Independence, which says that all just [meaning CIVIL enforcement] powers derive from the CONSENT of the governed.

4.6. IRS is HIDING the applicability of the “nonresident alien” status to those who are “state nationals”, who are JUST as “foreign” as foreign nationals. They are doing this by only addressing the INTERNATIONAL context and limiting all “nonresident aliens” to “aliens”. See:

Nonresident Aliens, IRS

<https://www.irs.gov/individuals/international-taxpayers/nonresident-aliens>

5. Illegal money laundering enforcement:

5.1. All money laundering enforcement presupposes that those who come under it are engaged in a “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).

5.2. For an exhaustive description of how money laundering enforcement is ILLEGALLY implemented, see:

The Money Laundering Enforcement Scam, Form #05.044

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/MoneyLaunderingScam.pdf>

6. Government Identification:

6.1. Government identification is being abused to recruit people into civil statutory offices within the government such as “person”, “citizen”, and “resident”.

6.2. States are refusing to issue NONESIDENT ID to those who do not want a domicile or “residence” within the state. This has the effect of targeting those who want resident ID for “economic sanctions” on a MASSIVE scale, and thus makes such efforts coercive.

6.3. The Department of State is UNCONSTITUTIONALLY compelling every applicant to present an ILLEGALLY issued Social Security Number on their Form DS-11 passport application.

6.4. For an exhaustive description of how government identification is abused to connect you to a domicile and an office in the government, see:

6.4.2. Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Domicile.pdf>

7. Commerce and banking:

7.1. Banks, financial institutions, and gift card issuers are illegally compelling nonresident aliens to falsely declare themselves STATUTORY “U.S. persons” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30)) who are domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government on federal territory with an illegally issues Social Security Number in order to open an account or get a gift card.

7.2. Bank Secrecy Act/Anti Money Laundering Statutes and Regulations are being misrepresented by financial institutions as the origin of their right to require a Social Security Number. Nonresident aliens not engaged in the “trade or business” excise taxable franchise are excluded from the need to have or use an SSN or TIN. See:

7.2.2. 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1\(b\)\(2\).

7.3. Like the IRS, financial institutions are HIDING the applicability of the “nonresident alien” status to those who are “state nationals”, who are JUST as “foreign” as foreign nationals. They are doing this by only addressing the INTERNATIONAL context and limiting all “nonresident aliens” to “aliens”. See:

5 The Constitutional Requirement for Notice of All Enforcement Statutes in the Federal Register

Government enforcement actions are actions which adversely affect the rights of the parties who are the subject of the enforcement. An essential requirement of “due process of law” is notice and opportunity to be heard by the parties who will be subject to the enforcement action prior to its commencement. To wit:

“An elementary and fundamental requirement of due process in any proceeding which is to be accorded finality is notice reasonably calculated, under all circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections.” Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950) . Without proper prior notice to those who may be affected by a government decision, all other procedural rights may be nullified. The exact contents of the notice required by due process will, of course, vary with the circumstances.

[Administrative Law and Process in a Nutshell, Ernest Gellhorn, 1990, West Publishing, p. 214]

“It is sufficient to say that there are certain immutable principles of justice which inhere in the very idea of free government which no member of the Union may disregard, as that no man shall be condemned in his person or property without due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his own defense.”
[Holden v. Hardy, 169 U.S. 366 (1898)]

The Federal Register Act, 44 U.S.C. §1505 et seq., and the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. §553 et seq, both describe laws which may be enforced as “laws having general applicability and legal effect”. To wit, read the following, which is repeated in slightly altered form in 5 U.S.C. §553(a):

TITLE 44 > CHAPTER 15 > § 1505

§1505. Documents to be published in Federal Register

(a) Proclamations and Executive Orders; Documents Having General Applicability and Legal Effect; Documents Required To Be Published by Congress. There shall be published in the Federal Register—

For the purposes of this chapter every document or order which prescribes a penalty has general applicability and legal effect.

The requirement for “reasonable notice” or “due notice” as part of Constitutional due process extends not only to statutes and regulations AFTER they are enacted into law, such as when they are enforced in a court of law, but also to the publication of proposed statutes and rules/regulations BEFORE they are enacted and subsequently enforced by agencies within the Executive Branch. The Federal Register is the ONLY approved method by which the public at large domiciled in “States of the Union” are provided with “reasonable notice” and an opportunity to comment publicly on new or proposed statutes OR rules/regulations which will directly affect them and which may be enforced directly against them.

§ 1508. Publication in Federal Register as notice of hearing

A notice of hearing or of opportunity to be heard, required or authorized to be given by an Act of Congress, or which may otherwise properly be given, shall be deemed to have been given to all persons residing within the States of the Union and the District of Columbia, except in cases where notice by publication is insufficient in law, when the notice is published in the Federal Register at such a time that the period between the publication and the date fixed in the notice for the hearing or for the termination of the opportunity to be heard is—

Neither statutes nor the rules/regulations which implement them may be directly enforced within states of the Union against the general public unless and until they have been so published in the Federal Register.

(a)(1) [. . .] Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms thereof, a person may not in any manner be required to resort to, or be adversely affected by, a matter required to be published in the Federal Register and not so published. For the purpose of this paragraph, matter reasonably available to the class of persons affected thereby is deemed published in the Federal Register when incorporated by reference therein with the approval of the Director of the Federal Register.

26 C.F.R. §601.702 Publication and public inspection

(a)(2)(ii) Effect of failure to publish. Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference will not adversely change or affect a person's rights.

The only exceptions to the requirement for publication in the Federal Register of the statute and the implementing regulations are the groups specifically identified by Congress as expressly exempted from this requirement, as follows:

1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1) .
2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2) .
3. Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1).

Based on the above, the burden of proof imposed upon the IRS at any due process meeting in which it is enforcing any provision of the Internal Revenue Code is to produce at least ONE of the following TWO things:

1. Evidence signed under penalty of perjury by someone with personal, first-hand knowledge, proving that you are a member of one of the three groups specifically exempted from the requirement for implementing regulations, as identified above.
2. Evidence of publication in the Federal Register of BOTH the statute AND the implementing regulation which they seek to enforce against you.

Without satisfying one of the above two requirements, the government is illegally enforcing federal law and becomes liable for a constitutional tort. For case number two above, the federal courts have held the following enlightening things:

"...for federal tax purposes, federal regulations [rather than the statutes ONLY] govern."
[Dodd v. United States, 223 F.Supp. 785]

"To the extent that regulations implement the statute, they have the force and effect of law...The regulation implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute..."
[Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d. 667]

"An administrative regulation, of course, is not a "statute." While in practical effect regulations may be called "little laws," 7 they are at most but offspring of statutes. Congress alone may pass a statute, and the Criminal Appeals Act calls for direct appeals if the District Court's dismissal is based upon the invalidity or construction of a statute. See United States v. Jones, 345 U.S. 377 (1953). This Court has always construed the Criminal Appeals Act narrowly, limiting it strictly "to the instances specified." United States v. Borden Co., 308 U.S. 188, 192 (1939). See also United States v. Swift & Co., 318 U.S. 442 (1943). Here the statute is not complete by itself, since it merely declares the range of its operation and leaves to its progeny the means to be utilized in the effectuation of its command. But it is the statute which creates the offense of the willful removal of the labels of origin and provides the punishment for violations. The regulations, on the other hand, prescribe the identifying language of the label itself, and assign the resulting tags to their respective geographical areas. Once promulgated, [361 U.S. 431, 438] these regulations, called for by the statute itself, have the force of law, and violations thereof incur criminal prosecutions, just as if all the details had been incorporated into the congressional language. The result is that neither the statute nor the regulations are complete without the other, and only together do they have any force. In effect, therefore, the construction of one necessarily involves the construction of the other."
[U.S. v. Mersky, 361 U.S. 431 (1960)]

1 "...the Act's civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of the regulation promulgated by the
2 Secretary; if the Secretary were to do nothing, the Act itself would impose no penalties on anyone...The
3 Government urges that since only those who violate these regulations [not the Code] may incur civil or criminal
4 penalties, it is the actual regulations issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, and not the broad authorizing
5 language of the statute, which are to be tested against the standards of the Fourth Amendment; and that when so
6 tested they are valid."

7 [Calif. Bankers Assoc. v. Shultz, 416 U.S. 21, 44, 39 L.Ed.2d. 812, 94 S.Ct. 1494]

9 "Although the relevant statute authorized the Secretary to impose such a duty, his implementing regulations did
10 not do so. Therefore we held that there was no duty to disclose..."

11 [United States v. Murphy, 809 F.2d. 142, 1431]

13 "Failure to adhere to agency regulations [by the IRS or other agency] may amount to denial of due process if 14 regulations are required by constitution or statute..."

15 [Curley v. United States, 791 F.Supp. 52]

16 Since there are no implementing regulations authorizing enforcement of the I.R.C. as indicated in Section 3 later, the I.R.C.
17 is only directly enforceable against those who are members of the groups specifically exempted from the requirement for 18 implementing regulations published in the Federal Register as described above. This is also consistent with the statutes
19 authorizing enforcement within the I.R.C. itself found in 26 U.S.C. §6331, which say on the subject the following:

20 26 U.S.C., Subchapter D - Seizure of Property for Collection of Taxes

21 Sec. 6331. Levy and distraint

22 (a) Authority of Secretary

23 If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it
24 shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax (and such further sum as shall be sufficient to cover the
25 expenses of the levy) by levy upon all property and rights to property (except such property as is exempt under 26 section 6334) belonging to such person or on which there is a lien provided in this chapter for the payment of 27 such tax. Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of 28 the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District
29 of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer (as defined in section 3401(d)) of such officer,
30 employee, or elected official. If the Secretary makes a finding that the collection of such tax is in jeopardy, notice
31 and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the Secretary and, upon failure or refusal to pay
32 such tax, collection thereof by levy shall be lawful without regard to the 10-day period provided in this section.

34 having "general applicability and legal affect" beyond the discussion in this section, see:

35 6 Important points and authorities on the requirement for implementing regulations

36 "An administrative regulation, of course, is not a "statute." While in practical effect regulations may be called
37 "little laws," 7 they are at most but offspring of statutes. Congress alone may pass a statute, and the Criminal
38 Appeals Act calls for direct appeals if the District Court's dismissal is based upon the invalidity or construction
39 of a statute. See United States v. Jones, 345 U.S. 377 (1953). This Court has always construed the Criminal
40 Appeals Act narrowly, limiting it strictly "to the instances specified." United States v. Borden Co., 308 U.S. 188,
41 192 (1939). See also United States v. Swift & Co., 318 U.S. 442 (1943). Here the statute is not complete by itself,
42 since it merely declares the range of its operation and leaves to its progeny the means to be utilized in the 43 effectuation of its command. But it is the statute which creates the offense of the willful removal of the labels of 44 origin and provides the punishment for violations. The regulations, on the other hand, prescribe the identifying
45 language of the label itself, and assign the resulting tags to their respective geographical areas. Once
46 promulgated, [361 U.S. 431, 438] these regulations, called for by the statute itself, have the force of law, and 47 violations thereof incur criminal prosecutions, just as if all the details had been incorporated into the 48 congressional language. The result is that neither the statute nor the regulations are complete without the 49 other, and only together do they have any force. In effect, therefore, the construction of one necessarily 50 involves the construction of the other."

51 [U.S. v. Mersky, 361 U.S. 431 (1960)]

1 "...the Act's civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of the regulation promulgated by the
2 Secretary; if the Secretary were to do nothing, the Act itself would impose no penalties on anyone...The
3 Government urges that since only those who violate these regulations [not the Code] may incur civil or criminal
4 penalties, it is the actual regulations issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, and not the broad authorizing
5 language of the statute, which are to be tested against the standards of the Fourth Amendment; and that when so
6 tested they are valid."

7 [Calif. Bankers Assoc. v. Shultz, 416 U.S. 21, 44, 39 L.Ed.2d. 812, 94 S.Ct. 1494]

9 "Failure to adhere to agency regulations [by the IRS or other agency] may amount to denial of due process if
10 regulations are required by constitution or statute..."

11 [Curley v. United States, 791 F.Supp. 52]

14 implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute..."

15 [Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d. 667]

17 "...for federal tax purposes, federal regulations govern."

18 [Dodd v. United States, 223 F.Supp. 785]

19 "A regulation, however, may not serve to amend a statute, Koshland v. Helvering, 298 U.S. 441, 447, 56 S.Ct.
20 767, 770, 80 L.Ed. 1268 (1936), or to add to the statute "something which is not there." United States v. Calamaro, 21 354 U.S. 351, 359, 77 S.Ct. 1138, 1143, 1 L.Ed.2d. 1394 (1957). As stated in Manhattan General Equipment Co.
22 v. Commissioner, 297 U.S. 129, 134, 56 S.Ct. 397, 399, 80 L.Ed. 528 (1936):

23 The power of an administrative officer or board to administer a federal statute and to prescribe rules and
24 regulations to that end is not the power to make law — for no such power can be delegated by Congress — but
25 the power to adopt regulations to carry into effect the will of Congress as expressed by the statute. A regulation
26 which does not do this, but operates to create a rule out of harmony with the statute, is a mere nullity. "

27 [Iglesias v. U.S., 848 F.2d. 362, 366-67 (2d Cir. 1988)]

29 "Finally, the Government points to the fact that the Treasury Regulations relating to the statute purport to include
30 the pick-up man among those subject to the § 3290 tax,^[11] and argues (a) that this constitutes an administrative 31 interpretation to which we should give weight in construing the statute, particularly because (b) section 3290 was
32 carried over in haec verba into § 4411 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. We find neither argument
33 persuasive. In light of the above discussion, 359*359 we cannot but regard this Treasury Regulation as no
34 more than an attempted addition to the statute of something which is not there.^[12] As such the regulation can
35 furnish no sustenance to the statute. Koshland v. Helvering, 298 U.S. 441, 446-447. Nor is the Government
36 helped by its argument as to the 1954 Code. The regulation had been in effect for only three years,^[13] and there
37 is nothing to indicate that it was ever called to the attention of Congress. The re-enactment of § 3290 in the 38 1954 Code was not accompanied by any congressional discussion which throws light on its intended scope. In 39 such circumstances we consider the 1954 re-enactment to be without significance. Commissioner v. Glenshaw

44 EDITORIAL: If the statute in 26 U.S.C. §1 contains no EXPRESS liability, then the implementing regulations
45 in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1 may not either. If the regulation DOES impose an express liability that the statute DOES
46 NOT, then the only people the liability can refer to are people within the Treasury Department in the case of 47 regulations written by the Secretary of the Treasury per 5 U.S.C. §301. Do you work for the Treasury Department
48 or the Secretary of the Treasury or are you handling Treasury property? NO? Then why did you consent to be
49 treated AS IF you are a Treasury officer called a "citizen", "resident", or "nonresident alien" engaged in the 50 "trade or business" excise taxable/public office franchise?]

7 Geographical definitions

A very frequent point of confusion and misunderstanding even within the legal profession is the definition of geographical terms in the various contexts in which they are used. The table below is provided to clear up this confusion in order that people do not misinterpret geographical terms by applying them outside their intended context. Using this page is VERY important for those who will be reading and researching state and federal law. The differences in meaning within the various contexts are primarily a consequence of the Separation of Powers Doctrine.

Table 5: Geographical Conventions

Law	Federal constitution	Federal statutes	Federal regulations	State constitutions	State statutes	State regulations
Author	Union States/ "We The People"	Federal Government		"We The People"	State Government
"state"	Foreign country	Union state or foreign country	Union state or foreign country	Other Union state or federal government	Other Union state or federal government	Other Union state or federal government
"State"	Union state	Federal state	Federal state	Union state	Union state	Union state

Law	Federal constitution	Federal statutes	Federal regulations	State constitutions	State statutes	State regulations
Author	Union States/ "We The People"	Federal Government		"We The People"	State Government
"in this State" or "in the State" ^[1]	NA	NA	NA	NA	Federal enclave within state	Federal enclave within state
"State" ^[2] (State Revenue and taxation code only)	NA	NA	NA	NA	Federal enclave within state	Federal enclave within state
"several States"	Union states collectively ^[3]	Federal "States" collectively	Federal "States" collectively	Federal "States" collectively	Federal "States" collectively	Federal "States" collectively
"United States"	states of the Union collectively	Federal United States	Federal United States	United States* the country	Federal United States	Federal United States

What the above table clearly shows is that the word "State" in the GENERAL context of MOST federal statutes and regulations means (not includes!) federal States only under Title 48 of the U.S. Code^[4], and these areas do not include any of the 50 Union States. This is true in most cases and especially in the Internal Revenue Code. There are four exceptions to this rule that we are aware of, and these subject matters include (are limited to):

SOURCES OF EXTRATERRITORIAL JURISDICTION

1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1). This includes:
 - 1.1. Making or executing war. This is the Department of Defense \(DOD\), Title 50 of the U.S. Code, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice \(U.C.M.J.\), 10 U.S.C. Chapter 47.
 - 1.2. Regulating aliens within the country. The presence test at 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\) implements the tax aspect of this.
 - 1.3. Protecting VOLUNTARY STATUTORY citizens (not constitutional citizens) abroad. This is done through passports, 26 U.S.C. §911 which pays for the protection, the Department of State \(DOS\), and the military.
 - 1.4. International commerce with foreign nations. This is done through the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act \(FSIA\), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97, U.S.C.I.S., Department of Homeland Security \(DHS\), and the foreign affairs supervision of the federal courts.
 - 1.5. Economic sanctions on foreign countries and political rulers imposed by the Department of the Treasury.
2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2). Note that:
 - 2.1. "Taxes" do NOT fall in the category of "public property, loans, grants, or benefits", but the U.S. supreme court identified them as a "quasi-contract" in Milwaukee v. White, 296 U.S. 268 \(1935\).
 - 2.2. In the case of "agency management or personnel", they are talking about public officers serving within the national government as EXPRESSLY GEOGRAPHICALLY authorized by 4 U.S.C. §72 and NOT elsewhere. We'll give you a HINT, there IS no "express legislative authorization" for "taxpayer" offices to be exercised outside the District of Columbia as required, so all those serving in such an office extraterritorially are DE FACTO officers \(Form #05.043\). The income tax is an excise tax upon the "trade or business" franchise, which is defined in in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as "the functions of a public office", but those offices may not lawfully be exercised outside the District of Columbia. That is why the statutory geographical "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) is defined as the District of Columbia and NOWHERE expressly extended outside the District of Columbia or the Federal statutory "State" defined in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\).
 - 2.3. Civil statutory statuses such as "taxpayer", "citizen", "resident", and "person" AND the PUBLIC RIGHTS and privileged that attach to them are PROPERTY legislatively created and therefore owned by the national government. Those claiming these statuses are in receipt, custody, or "benefit" of federal privileges no matter where they physically are, and thus are subject to Congress power to "make all needful rules respecting the Territory and other property" granted by Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution.
3. Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\).
4. EXPRESS and INFORMED consent or comity in some form. Note that NO ONE can consent FOR YOU. YOU have to consent YOURSELF. Presently, "comity" is legally defined as "willingness to grant a privilege". It USED to be defined as MUTUAL consent or agreement of both parties. This has the INSIDIOUS effect that it is OK for a judge to consent FOR YOU, or you to consent sub silentio or by acquiescence. The RESULT is that you are treated AS IF you are a privileged agent or officer of the state, which we call a "straw man", often without compensation. This is CRIMINAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING and CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT \(Form #05.046\) if you didn't KNOWINGLY consent. The purpose of this SOPHISTRY is to procure your consent INVISIBLY, so they don't have to recognize or respect your sovereignty or autonomy. After all, they think they know better than you about what is good for you. See:

4.1. Hot Issues: Invisible Consent, SEDM

The above four items collectively are referred to as "extraterritorial jurisdiction". Extraterritorial jurisdiction is defined as SUBJECT MATTER jurisdiction over PUBLIC property \(Form #12.025\) physically situated OUTSIDE of the EXCLUSIVE jurisdiction of the national government under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution. Congress has jurisdiction over its property and the offices it creates no matter WHERE they physically reside or are lawfully exercised, INCLUDING within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state as confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court in Dred Scott v. Sanford, 60 U.S. 393 \(1857\), which ironically was about SLAVES. Those who CONSENT to be statutory "taxpayers" would fall in this same category of "slave" and are treated literally as CHATTEL of the national government. HOWEVER, the Constitution confers NO EXPRESS authorization for Congress to use TACIT and PERSONAL BRIBES or GRANTS of its physical or chattel PUBLIC property or "benefits" to CREATE NEW public offices or appoint new officers to de facto offices that are NOT created by an EXPRESS lawful oath or appointment. Any attempts to do so are CRIMINAL OFFENSES under 18 U.S.C. §§201, 210, 211. More about public offices and officers in:

2. Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You Are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008

3. Proof That There Is a "Straw Man", Form #05.042

<https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StrawMan.pdf>

For the purposes of this discussion, Sovereign States of the Union are NOT "territory" of the national government. Also, the Sixteenth Amendment did NOT confer EXTRATERRITORIAL jurisdiction to levy an UNAPPORTIONED direct tax upon labor as property within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union either. In fact, the U.S. Supreme Court declared that it "conferred NO NEW power of taxation" in Stanton v. Baltic Mining, 240 U.S. 103 \(1916\). Thus, the income tax HAS ALWAYS been a tax upon officers of the national government called statutory "taxpayer", "citizens", and "persons". This is ENTIRELY consistent with the legislative intent of the proposed sixteenth amendment proposed to Congress by President Taft himself:

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD - SENATE - JUNE 16, 1909
[From Pages 3344 – 3345]

The Secretary read as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is the constitutional duty of the President from time to time to recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures, as he shall judge necessary and expedient. In my inaugural address, immediately preceding this present extraordinary session of Congress, I invited attention to the necessity for a revision of the tariff at this session, and stated the principles upon which I thought the revision should be affected. I referred to the then rapidly increasing deficit and pointed out the obligation on the part of the framers of the tariff bill to arrange the duty so as to secure an adequate income, and suggested that if it was not possible to do so by import duties, new kinds of taxation must be adopted, and among them I recommended a graduated inheritance tax as correct in principle and as certain and easy of collection.

The House of Representatives has adopted the suggestion, and has provided in the bill it passed for the collection of such a tax. In the Senate the action of its Finance Committee and the course of the debate indicate that it may not agree to this provision, and it is now proposed to make up the deficit by the imposition of a general income tax, in form and substance of almost exactly the same character as, that which in the case of Pollock v. Farmer's

1 Loan and Trust Company (157 U.S., 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore
2 not within the power of the Federal Government to impose unless apportioned among the several States
3 according to population. [Emphasis added] This new proposal, which I did not discuss in my inaugural address
4 or in my message at the opening of the present session, makes it appropriate for me to submit to the Congress
5 certain additional recommendations.

6 Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the 7 Treasury to meet the present deficiency. The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases deprived
8 the National Government of a power which, by reason of previous decisions of the court, it was generally
9 supposed that government had. It is undoubtedly a power the National Government ought to have. It might be
10 indispensable to the Nation's life in great crises. Although I have not considered a constitutional amendment as 11 necessary to the exercise of certain phases of this power, a mature consideration has satisfied me that an 12 amendment is the only proper course for its establishment to its full extent.

13 I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to
14 the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government without 15 apportionment among the States in proportion to population.

16 This course is much to be preferred to the one proposed of reenacting a law once judicially declared to be
17 unconstitutional. For the Congress to assume that the court will reverse itself, and to enact legislation on such 18 an assumption, will not strengthen popular confidence in the stability of judicial construction of the Constitution.
19 It is much wiser policy to accept the decision and remedy the defect by amendment in due and regular course.

20 Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the
21 Treasury to meet the present deficiency, but by putting on the statute book a law already there and never repealed
22 will simply be suggesting to the executive officers of the Government their possible duty to invoke litigation.

23 If the court should maintain its former view, no tax would be collected at all. If it should ultimately reverse itself,
24 still no taxes would have been collected until after protracted delay.

25 It is said the difficulty and delay in securing the approval of three-fourths of the States will destroy all chance of 26 adopting the amendment. Of course, no one can speak with certainty upon this point, but I have become convinced
27 that a great majority of the people of this country are in favor of investing the National Government with power
28 to levy an income tax, and that they will secure the adoption of the amendment in the States, if proposed to them.

29 Second, the decision in the Pollock case left power in the National Government to levy an excise tax, which 30 accomplishes the same purpose as a corporation income tax and is free from certain objections urged to the 31 proposed income tax measure.

32 I therefore recommend an amendment to the tariff bill Imposing upon all corporations and joint stock
33 companies for profit, except national banks (otherwise taxed), savings banks, and building and loan
34 associations, an excise tax measured by 2 per cent on the net income of such corporations. This is an excise tax
35 upon the privilege of doing business as an artificial entity and of freedom from a general partnership
36 liability enjoyed by those who own the stock. [Emphasis added] I am informed that a 2 per cent tax of this
37 character would bring into the Treasury of the United States not less than $25,000,000.

38 The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Spreckels Sugar Refining Company against McClain (192 U.S., 39 397), seems clearly to establish the principle that such a tax as this is an excise tax upon privilege and not a
40 direct tax on property, and is within the federal power without apportionment according to population. The tax
41 on net income is preferable to one proportionate to a percentage of the gross receipts, because it is a tax upon
42 success and not failure. It imposes a burden at the source of the income at a time when the corporation is well
43 able to pay and when collection is easy.

44 Another merit of this tax is the federal supervision, which must be exercised in order to make the law effective
45 over the annual accounts and business transactions of all corporations. While the faculty of assuming a corporate 46 form has been of the utmost utility in the business world, it is also true that substantially all of the abuses and all
47 of the evils which have aroused the public to the necessity of reform were made possible by the use of this very 48 faculty. If now, by a perfectly legitimate and effective system of taxation, we are incidentally able to possess the
49 Government and the stockholders and the public of the knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains
50 and profits of every corporation in the country, we have made a long step toward that supervisory control of 51 corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power.

52 I recommend, then, first, the adoption of a joint resolution by two-thirds of both Houses, proposing to the States
53 an amendment to the Constitution granting to the Federal Government the right to levy and collect an income tax
54 without apportionment among the several States according to population; and, second, the enactment, as part of 55 the pending revenue measure, either as a substitute for, or in addition to, the inheritance tax, of an excise tax
56 upon all corporations, measured by 2 percent of their net income.

Some people have asserted that it is deceptive to claim that the phrase above "shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government" implies it is a tax upon the government. In retort, the following proves we are not only correct, but that the only real DECEPTIVE one was Taft Himself:

1. Taft could have said "shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring upon the national government the power to levy an income tax" but DID NOT state it more correctly this way.
2. The legislative implementation of what he proposed he described as an excise and a privilege tax ONLY upon corporations, which even after the Sixteenth Amendment was ratified, is EXACTLY and ONLY what the Sixteenth Amendment currently authorizes. These corporations are NATIONAL corporations, not STATE corporations, by the way.

"Income" has been taken to mean the same thing as used in the Corporation Excise Tax Act of 1909, in the Sixteenth Amendment, and in the various revenue acts subsequently passed. Southern Pacific Co. v. Lowe, 247 U.S. 330, 335; Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, 255 U.S. 509, 219. After full consideration, this Court declared that income may be defined as gain derived from capital, from labor, or from both combined, including profit gained through sale or conversion of capital. Stratton's Independence v. Howbert, 231 U.S. 399, 415; Doyle v. Mitchell Brothers Co., 247 U.S. 179, 185; Eisner v. Macomber, 252 U.S. 189, 207. And that definition has been adhered to and applied repeatedly. See, e.g., Merchants' L. & T. Co. v. Smietanka, supra; 518; Goodrich v. Edwards, 255 U.S. 527, 535; United States v. Phellis, 257 U.S. 156, 169; Miles v. Safe Deposit Co., 259 U.S. 247, 252-253; United States v. Supplee-Biddle Co., 265 U.S. 189, 194; Irwin v. Gavit, 268 U.S. 161, 167; Edwards v. Cuba Railroad, 268 U.S. 628, 633. In determining what constitutes income, substance rather than form is to be given controlling weight. Eisner v. Macomber, supra, 206. [271 U.S. 175]"
[Bowers v. Kerbaugh-Empire Co., 271 U.S. 170, 174, (1926)]

3. The U.S. Supreme Court in Downes v. Bidwell agreed that the income tax extends wherever the GOVERNMENT extends, rather than where the GEOGRAPHY extends. Notice it says "without limitation as to place" and "places over which the GOVERNMENT extends".

"Loughborough v. Blake, 18 U.S. 317, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass (or, as appears by the original record, replevin) brought in the Circuit Court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. 216, c. 60, Fed. 17, 1815. It was insisted that Congress could act in a double capacity: in [32] one as legislating [*260] for the States; in the other as a local legislature for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could not legislate for the District under Art. I, sec. 8, giving to Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes, imposts and excises," which "shall be uniform throughout the [CONSTITUTIONAL] United States[]." inasmuch as the District was no part of the [CONSTITUTIONAL] United States[]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that Art. I, sec. 20, declares that "representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States . . . according to their respective numbers," furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned; but not to exempt any part of the country from their operation. "The words used do not mean, that direct taxes shall be imposed on States only which are [33] represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to States, shall be apportioned to numbers." That Art. I, sec. 9, P4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, "and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective States. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to." It was further held that the words of the ninth section did not "in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the second section require that it shall be extended to all the [*777] States. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be taxed without imposing the necessity of taxing them."

[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

4. The fact that when former President and then Chief Justice Taft heard the FIRST case in the Supreme court after ratification, he stated that the liability for an income tax had NOTHING TO DO with one's nationality or domicile! Cook, American national abroad in Mexico and domiciled there was outside the statutory geographical "United States". Recall that the U.S. Supreme Court in Lawrence v. State Tax Commission, 286 U.S. 276 (1932) held that domicile was the SOLE basis for income tax so Cook technically could NOT owe an income tax. But his litigation related to a 1040 return he previously filed in which he INCORRECTLY declared his status as that of a "U.S individual". Thus, he made an ELECTION (consent) to be treated as a statutory "U.S. person" and thus ELECTED himself into a voluntary

"taxpayer" office to procure protection of the national government while abroad. Notice he calls "protection" a BENEFIT, and thus a VOLUNTARY EXCISE TAXABLE FRANCHISE! Notice he says the SOLE BASIS in this case was the STATUTORY STATUS under the Internal Revenue Code of "citizen", and not "domicile". That civil statutory status and NOT Constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment status, we prove in How State Nationals Volunteer to Pay Income Tax, Form #08.024, is an OFFICE within the Department of Treasury who works for the Secretary of the Treasury.

"The contention was rejected that a citizen's property without the limits of the United States derives no benefit from the United States. The contention, it was said, came from the confusion of thought in 'mistaking the scope and extent of the sovereign power of the United States as a nation and its relations to its citizens and their relations to it.' And that power in its scope and extent, it was decided, is based on the presumption that government by its very nature benefits the citizen and his property wherever found, and that opposition to it holds on to citizenship while it 'belittles and destroys its advantages and blessings by denying the possession by government of an essential power required to make citizenship completely beneficial.' In other words, the principle was declared that the government, by its very nature, benefits the citizen and his property wherever found and, therefore, has the power to make the benefit complete. Or to express it another way, the basis of the power to tax was not and cannot be made dependent upon the situs of the property in all cases, it being in or out of the United States, and was not and cannot be made dependent upon the domicile of the citizen, that being in or out of the United States, but upon his relation as citizen to the United States and the relation of the latter to him as citizen. The consequence of the relations is that the native citizen who is taxed may have domicile, and the property from which his income is derived may have situs, in a foreign country and the tax be legal — the government having power to impose the tax."
[Cook v. Tait, 265 U.S. 47 (1924)]

5. The definition of "person" in 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 for the purposes of penalty and criminal enforcement purposes limits itself to government employees and instrumentalities of the government. The rules of statutory construction and interpretation forbid adding anything to these definitions not expressly provided, such as PRIVATE constitutionally protected men and women. Thus, anyone who doesn't fall within the ambit of these definitions is, by definition, a VOLUNTEER because not a proper target of enforcement.

8. The fact that the ACTIVITY that is subject to excise taxation within the Internal Revenue Code is legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as "the functions of a public office", meaning an office WITHIN the national and not state government. For exhaustive details on this subject, see:

9. The fact that the Federal Register Act and the Administrative Procedures Act both limit the TARGET of direct STATUTORY enforcement to the following groups, none of which include most people in states of the Union and which primarily consist of government employees only:

- 1 9.1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(1\) .
- 2 9.2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or

EVEN in the case of item 2 of the extraterritorial jurisdiction list entitled "A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts" above, legislative control over property is limited to public offices, and NOT to private state nationals. A "public officer", after all, is legally defined in Black's Law Dictionary as someone in charge of the PROPERTY of the public. We have never seen any case hold that merely possessing physical property of the national government while physically present within a constitutional state confers DIRECT, PERSONAL legislative jurisdiction over the person whose hands that property is physically in.

8.1 Bing ChatGPT: When is a Matter in court governed exclusively by state law?¹

QUESTION 1:

Is it safe to say that under 28 U.S.C. §1652, anything NOT in the following list is governed exclusively by state law?

1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1).
2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2).
3. Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1).
4. EXPRESS and INFORMED consent or comity in some form. Note that NO ONE can consent FOR YOU. YOU have to consent YOURSELF. Presently, “comity” is legally defined as “willingness to grant a privilege”. It USED to be defined as MUTUAL consent or agreement of both parties. This has the INSIDIOUS effect that it is OK for a judge to consent FOR YOU, or you to consent sub silentio or by acquiescence. The RESULT is that you are treated AS IF you are a privileged agent or officer of the state, which we call a “straw man”, often without compensation. This is CRIMINAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING and CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT (Form #05.046) if you didn’t KNOWINGLY consent. The purpose of this SOPHISTRY is to procure your consent INVISIBLY, so they don’t have to recognize or respect your sovereignty or autonomy. After all, they think they know better than you about what is good for you.

ANSWER 1:

Under 28 U.S.C. §1652, the laws of the several states, except where the Constitution or treaties of the United States or Acts of Congress otherwise require or provide, shall be regarded as rules of decision in civil actions in the courts of the United States, in cases where they apply ¹²³. Therefore, anything not mentioned in the list you provided would be governed exclusively by state law.

QUESTION 2:

Which one of the above subject matters would income tax fall under?

ANSWER 2:

Income tax is not explicitly mentioned in the list you provided. Therefore, it would be governed exclusively by state law under 28 U.S.C. §1652 ¹²³.

11 QUESTION 3:

12 Could subject matter 3 be the source of federal jurisdiction, since the income tax is a tax upon a “trade or business”, which is 13 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as “the functions of a public office”?

14 ANSWER 3:

15 Subject matter 3 in your list refers to federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof¹. It does 16 not provide a source of federal jurisdiction for income tax.

17 However, under 28 U.S.C. §1652, the laws of the several states, except where the Constitution or treaties of the United States or
18 Acts of Congress otherwise require or provide, shall be regarded as rules of decision in civil actions in the courts of the United
19 States, in cases where they apply²³⁴. Therefore, income tax would be governed exclusively by state law unless otherwise

QUESTION 1:

Can you provide Supreme Court authorities on what a “grant” is?

ANSWER 2:

In legal terms, a “grant” can have different meanings depending on the context. Here are a couple of definitions from Supreme Court authorities and federal regulations:

² Source: Bing ChatGPT: Government “grants” (privileges and franchises), SEDM; <https://sedm.org/bing-chatgrt-qa-government-grants/>.

1. In the context of federal assistance, a “grant” is defined as an award of financial assistance, including cooperative agreements, in the form of money, or property in lieu of money, by the Federal Government to an eligible grantee¹.
2. In the context of the Supreme Court’s proceedings, “granting certiorari” refers to the act where the Supreme Court agrees to hear a case²³.
3. In the context of federal funding, the term “grant” has been widely recognized as providing the federal government with the legal authority to offer federal grant funds to states and localities that are contingent on the recipients engaging in, or refraining from, certain activities⁴.

Please note that these definitions are specific to U.S. law and may vary in other jurisdictions.

QUESTION 2:

Is the grantor the only one who can prescribe conditions upon receipt? If the recipient of the grant also provides consideration, don’t they have an equal right to impose conditions on the grantor?

ANSWER 2:

In the context of grants, typically the grantor, or the entity providing the grant, sets the conditions for the grant. These conditions must be met by the grantee, or recipient, in order to receive and retain the grant funding¹²³.

However, in some cases where a grantee provides consideration, they may have some influence over the terms of the grant. This is often seen in contractual agreements where both parties provide something of value and agree to certain terms and conditions¹.

It’s important to note that this can vary depending on the specific circumstances and legal jurisdiction. If you’re dealing with a specific situation, it would be best to consult with a legal professional to understand your rights and obligations.

QUESTION 3:

Is consideration provided by government the origin of the government’s right to prescribe conditions upon grants of government property?

ANSWER 3:

The government’s right to prescribe conditions upon grants of government property is not necessarily derived from the consideration provided by the government. Instead, it is more about the legal and regulatory framework that governs the grant process¹²³.

For instance, in the context of intellectual property rights in research and development contracts between contractors and the federal government, the rights granted to the U.S. government by applicable laws and regulations in patents and inventions, software, and technical data are discussed². The U.S. government’s rights in intellectual property differ depending on the type of intellectual property involved and the type of agreement at issue².

In terms of freedom of expression, the government may regulate speech “because of its message, its ideas, its subject matter, or its content.” The constitutionality of content-based regulation is determined by a compelling interest test: the government “must show that its regulation is necessary to serve a compelling state interest and is narrowly drawn to achieve that end.”¹

In summary, while consideration might play a role in some contractual agreements, it’s not typically the origin of the government’s right to prescribe conditions upon grants. These rights are usually derived from laws, regulations, and policy objectives.

QUESTION 4:

But don’t civil laws that prescribe rules regulating a grant also constitute consideration that conveys the power to impose obligations? It is a maxim of law that law exists for the “benefit” of man, right?

ANSWER 4:

Yes, you’re correct. Civil laws that prescribe rules regulating a grant can be seen as a form of consideration. They provide a framework for the grant and define the obligations and responsibilities of both the grantor and the grantee¹²³.

As for the maxim of law, there is indeed a principle that states “He who takes the benefit must bear the burden”⁴. This can be interpreted to mean that if one accepts a benefit (such as a grant), they must also accept the obligations that come with it (such as adhering to the rules and regulations prescribed by the grant).

Moreover, it’s important to note that laws are indeed intended for the benefit of society. They provide order, protect rights, and establish norms for behavior. In this sense, you could say that law exists for the “benefit” of man⁵⁶.

25 QUESTION 6:

26 Could selling one's labor to the government accurately be described as a property rental and governed by a property rental

1 The concept of “working for someone else, such as God” is more philosophical or spiritual in nature. In many religious and

11 QUESTION 7:

12 Isn’t it exclusively up to the person selling their labor as a Merchant to the government as a Buyer to decide and define whether 13 the relationship the labor creates is an employment or a rental of property, if they have waived all benefits of the civil statutes and 14 domicile and retain only constitutional protections for their labor?

15 ANSWER 7:

16 The classification of a labor relationship, whether as employment or as a rental of property, is typically governed by laws and
17 regulations, not solely by the individual selling their labor¹²³. These laws and regulations define the rights and obligations of both 18 parties in the relationship¹²³.

19 However, if an individual has waived all benefits of civil statutes and domicile and retains only constitutional protections for their 20 labor, it could potentially change the nature of the relationship. This is a complex legal issue that would likely depend on the 21 specific circumstances and jurisdiction⁴⁵.

22 It’s important to note that labor rights are rooted in fundamental constitutional rights—from First Amendment freedoms of speech
23 and association to Fifth Amendment protections from unlawful takings to Thirteenth Amendment freedoms from involuntary
24 servitude⁶. State constitutions also protect workers through provisions which explicitly aim to regulate labor and employment, and 25 broad guarantees of general rights which can be applied within the context of labor⁷.

27 situation, it would be best to consult with a legal professional to understand your rights and obligations.

7 QUESTION 8:

8 Labor rights may be rooted in constitutional rights, but isn't it true that under the Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine of the U.S.
9 Supreme Court, those who invoke the "benefit" of any statute essentially waive the ability to invoke constitutional protections?
10 Thus, aren't you being deceptive in saying that labor rights implemented with civil statutes are rooted in the Constitution?

11 ANSWER 8:

12 The Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine is a set of rules the Supreme Court has developed over time that guide a federal court's 13 disposition of cases that raise constitutional questions¹. The fundamental principle of the Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine is 14 that a federal court should interpret the Constitution only when it is a "strict necessity"¹.

15 However, invoking the "benefit" of any statute does not necessarily waive the ability to invoke constitutional protections. In fact,
16 many civil statutes that implement labor rights are rooted in the Constitution and are designed to protect fundamental 17 constitutional rights²³.

18 For example, the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex or national 19 origin, is rooted in the Constitution's guarantees of equal protection and due process². Similarly, labor laws that protect the right to 20 organize and collectively bargain are rooted in the Constitution's guarantees of freedom of association and freedom of speech³.

21 In summary, while the Constitutional Avoidance Doctrine provides guidance on how federal courts should approach
22 constitutional questions, it does not mean that invoking statutory protections waives the ability to invoke constitutional
23 protections. Many civil statutes that implement labor rights are in fact rooted in the Constitution and designed to protect 24 fundamental constitutional rights.

6 QUESTION 9:

7 It may be true that invoking the “benefit” of civil statutes doesn’t waive ALL constitutional protections, but isn’t it true that the
8 civil statutes can mandate a waiver of ANY constitutional protection the legislature wants in order to implement their purposes,
9 because those statutes are a “grant” of the “benefit” of civil statutory protection? In that sense, isn’t there a “tacit procuration” at 10 work for those seeking the “benefit” of civil statutory protection?

11 ANSWER 9:

12 Civil statutes are laws enacted by a legislature to govern the behavior of individuals and organizations within a society. These
13 statutes can provide certain benefits and protections to individuals, but they cannot mandate a waiver of constitutional rights¹.

14 The Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and any law that conflicts with it is considered unconstitutional and invalid. This
15 means that civil statutes cannot override or waive constitutional protections¹.

16 In some cases, individuals may voluntarily waive certain constitutional rights in order to receive the benefits of a civil statute. For 17 example, an individual may waive their right to a jury trial in order to participate in an alternative dispute resolution process.
18 However, this waiver must be voluntary and cannot be mandated by the civil statute².

1 QUESTION 10:

2 “procuration. Agency; proxy; the act of constituting another one’s attorney in fact. The act by which one person gives power to
3 another to act in his place, as he could do himself. Action under a power of attorney or other constitution of agency. Indorsing a
4 bill or note “by procuration” is doing it as proxy for another or by his authority. The use of the word procuration (usually, per
5 procuratione, or abbreviated per proc. or p.p.) on a promissory note by an agent is notice that the agent has but a limited authority
6 to sign. An express procuration is one made by the express consent of the parties. An implied or tacit procuration takes place
7 when an individual sees another managing his affairs and does not interfere to prevent it. Procurations are also divided into those
8 which contain absolute power, or a general authority, and those which give only a limited power. Also, the act or offence of 9 procuring women for lewd purposes. See also Proctor; Procure; Proxy. [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1207]

10 ANSWER 10:

11 Thank you for providing the definition of “procuration” from Black’s Law Dictionary.

12 In the context of your question, a “tacit procuration” would occur when an individual sees another managing his affairs and does
13 not interfere to prevent it. This could potentially apply to the relationship between a citizen and the government in certain
14 situations. For example, by participating in society and benefiting from government services, a citizen might be seen as tacitly
15 consenting to the government’s management of public affairs.

16 However, it’s important to note that this does not mean that citizens are waiving their constitutional rights. The Constitution is the
17 supreme law of the land, and any law or action that conflicts with it is considered unconstitutional. Even if a citizen tacitly
18 consents to certain government actions, this does not waive their constitutional protections.

19 As always, these interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you’re dealing with a specific
20 situation, it would be best to consult with a legal professional to understand your rights and obligations.

22 QUESTION 11:

23 If the civil statutes presume a domicile in a place not protected by the constitution, such as abroad or federal enclaves, and
24 someone not domiciled there invokes their protections, doesn’t this indirectly imply tacit consent to waive all constitutional
25 protections?

26 ANSWER 11:

27 The presumption of domicile in a place not protected by the Constitution, such as abroad or federal enclaves, is a complex legal
28 issue. Generally, civil statutes and regulations apply to individuals based on their domicile or residence¹. If someone not
29 domiciled in these places invokes the protections of civil statutes, it does not necessarily imply tacit consent to waive all
30 constitutional protections²³.

31 The Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and any law that conflicts with it is considered unconstitutional and invalid⁴⁵.
32 This means that even if an individual invokes the protections of a civil statute, they do not automatically waive their constitutional 33 rights²³.

34 However, there are situations where individuals can voluntarily waive certain constitutional rights. For example, in the context of 35 criminal proceedings, defendants can waive their Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination or their Sixth Amendment
36 right to counsel². But such waivers must be made voluntarily and knowingly²³.

37 In summary, while invoking the protections of civil statutes can have legal implications, it does not necessarily imply a waiver of 38 constitutional protections. These interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you’re dealing 39 with a specific situation, it would be best to consult with a legal professional to understand your rights and obligations.

11 QUESTION 12:

12 Doesn't the constitution identify itself as "the law of the land?" If someone is not domiciled on or present on land protected by 13 the constitution but specific civil statutes regulate what happens on that land, and they invoke the "benefit" of those statutes, aren't 14 they effectively waiving the protections of the entire constitution in such a circumstance?

15 ANSWER 12:

16 The U.S. Constitution does indeed identify itself as the "supreme Law of the Land" in Article VI, Clause 2¹²³. This means that the 17 Constitution, federal statutes, and U.S. treaties are the highest form of law in the U.S. legal system¹²³.

18 However, invoking the protections of civil statutes does not necessarily imply a waiver of constitutional protections⁴⁵. The 19 Constitution provides a framework for the creation of laws and regulations, including civil statutes⁶. These laws and regulations
20 are designed to implement and uphold the rights and principles outlined in the Constitution⁶.

21 Even if a person is not domiciled on or present on land protected by the Constitution, they are still subject to U.S. law if they are a
22 U.S. citizen or if their actions fall under U.S. jurisdiction⁷. If they invoke the protections of U.S. civil statutes, they are invoking
23 the protections of laws that exist within the framework of the U.S. Constitution⁷.

24 In terms of waiving constitutional rights, it's important to note that such waivers must be made voluntarily and knowingly⁴⁵.
25 Simply invoking the protections of civil statutes does not automatically imply a waiver of constitutional rights⁴⁵.

26 These interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you're dealing with a specific situation,

15 QUESTION 13:

16 Under precisely what circumstances would there be a waiver of any part of the Bill of Rights in the case where someone
17 physically present within the exclusive jurisdiction of a Constitutional State invokes the “benefits” of civil statutes that only 18 apply to land not protected by the Constitution, such as a federal enclave, federal territory, or abroad?

19 ANSWER 13:

20 The waiver of any part of the Bill of Rights is a complex legal issue that depends on the specific circumstances. Generally,
21 constitutional rights can be waived, but such waivers must be voluntary, knowing, and intelligent¹². This means that the individual
22 must fully understand the nature and consequences of their decision to waive their rights¹².

23 In the scenario you described, where someone physically present within the exclusive jurisdiction of a Constitutional State
24 invokes the “benefits” of civil statutes that only apply to land not protected by the Constitution, it’s not clear that there would be
25 an automatic waiver of any part of the Bill of Rights. The Bill of Rights consists of 10 amendments that explicitly guarantee
26 certain rights and protections to U.S. citizens by limiting the power of the federal government³. These rights cannot be easily
27 waived or overridden by civil statutes¹².

28 However, there may be situations where invoking certain statutory benefits could potentially lead to a waiver of certain
29 constitutional protections. For example, if a person voluntarily agrees to certain conditions that limit their constitutional
30 rights in exchange for statutory benefits, this could potentially be seen as a waiver¹². But again, such waivers must be

10 QUESTION 14:

11 Is it lawful for the government within the confines of the government to make a profitable business out of bribing people to give
12 up constitutional rights?

13 ANSWER 14:

14 No, it is not lawful for the government to make a profitable business out of bribing people to give up constitutional rights. The 15 U.S. Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and any action that infringes upon the rights protected by the Constitution is 16 considered unconstitutional¹².

17 In fact, there are laws in place that specifically prohibit bribery of public officials and witnesses². For example, 18 U.S. Code §
18 201 makes it illegal to directly or indirectly give, offer, or promise anything of value to any public official with intent to influence
19 any official act or to induce such public official to do or omit to do any act in violation of the lawful duty of such official².

20 Similarly, 26 C.F.R. §1.162-18 states that no deduction shall be allowed under section 162(a) for any illegal bribe or kickback
21 paid or incurred, directly or indirectly, to an official or employee of any government¹.

22 Therefore, any attempt by the government to profit from bribing individuals to waive their constitutional rights would be unlawful 23 and subject to legal penalties¹².

30 Would this also be true if the “bribe” came in the form of “benefits” that cannot lawfully be offered within a constitutional state of

20 QUESTION 16:

21 When you say Social Security is “not contingent upon the waiver of constitutional rights”, they can only be offered to “U.S.
22 citizens” domiciled on federal territory within a statutory state, meaning federal territory per 26 U.S.C. 3121. If the program is
23 offered in a constitutional state and outside of the “State” mentioned in 26 U.S.C. 3121, such as in a state of the Union, doesn’t
24 this constitute in effect a “bribe” in the context of someone who is NOT eligible because not located or domiciled in the place
25 described by 26 U.S.C. 3121?

26 ANSWER 16:

27 Social Security benefits are provided to eligible individuals who have paid into the Social Security system through payroll taxes,
28 regardless of their domicile¹². The benefits are not contingent upon the waiver of any constitutional rights³.

29 The term “State” in 26 U.S.C. 3121 includes the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the
30 Territories of Alaska and Hawaii before their admission as States, and (when used with respect to services performed after 1960)
31 Guam and American Samoa⁴⁵⁶⁷⁸.

32 However, Social Security benefits can be received by U.S. citizens living outside the United States as long as they are eligible¹.
33 This includes individuals living in one of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, the
34 Northern Mariana Islands, or American Samoa¹.

1 Therefore, offering Social Security benefits to eligible individuals in a constitutional state or outside of the “State” mentioned in
2 26 U.S.C. 3121 does not constitute a “bribe”. It is part of a social insurance program that workers pay into over the course of their

21 QUESTION 17:

22 The article you cite as authority to offer Social Security outside the “United States” is not law. By what authority do you add areas
23 within the exclusive jurisdiction of constitutional states to the definition of “State” in 26 U.S.C. 3121? The rules of statutory 24 construction and interpretation do not permit this and are also inconsistent with the eligibility requirements found in 20 C.F.R.
25 §422.103, wherein participation is limited to statutory “employees” of the national government, and not EVERYONE.

26 ANSWER 17:

27 The Social Security program is a federal program, and the Social Security Administration (SSA) has the authority to administer
28 benefits to eligible individuals regardless of their location, as long as they meet the eligibility requirements¹²³⁴.

29 The term “State” in 26 U.S.C. §3121 includes the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the
30 Territories of Alaska and Hawaii before their admission as States, and (when used with respect to services performed after 1960)

1 Guam and American Samoa⁵⁶⁷⁸⁹. However, this does not preclude the SSA from providing benefits to individuals residing in other
2 locations.

3 As for your reference to 20 C.F.R. §422.103, it outlines the process for applying for a Social Security number. It does not limit
4 participation in the Social Security program to statutory “employees” of the national government¹⁰. In fact, most jobs in the
5 United States are covered by Social Security, and workers in these jobs pay Social Security taxes as part of their employment¹¹.

6 In terms of statutory construction and interpretation, courts generally interpret statutes based on their plain language, considering
7 the statute as a whole and avoiding interpretations that would lead to absurd results¹²¹³¹⁴¹⁵¹⁶. If there is ambiguity in a statute,
8 courts may look to legislative history, purpose, and other tools of statutory interpretation¹²¹³¹⁴¹⁵¹⁶.

9 As always, these interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you’re dealing with a specific

7 QUESTION 18:

8 Don't the rules of statutory construction require that anything not expressly included in the definition of "State" in 26 U.S.C. 3121
9 is purposefully excluded? If that is so, by what authority to you ADD localities that are not listed as "States" there, such as people
10 within the exclusive jurisdiction of constitutional states of the Union?

11 ANSWER 18:

5 Isn't FICA the method of collecting Social Security contributions? If ALL taxes collected for Social Security must be collected

7 U.S.C. §3121, such as the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the Union?

31 QUESTION 20:

32 I did NOT ask you about where the benefits are PAID, which can be to anyone ANYWHERE, no question. I asked you how the 33 taxes used to participate can be collected lawfully within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state if these states are not
34 expressly included in the definition of "State" found in 26 U.S.C. §3121. It seems that you are adding things to "State" that aren't there when you say Social Security TAXES can be collected in constitutional states. No? This is a violation of due process by presumption, is it not?

ANSWER 20:

The Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) is a federal law, and it applies to all employers and employees in the United States, regardless of the state or territory in which they are located¹²³. This includes both constitutional states and territories listed in 26 U.S.C. §3121⁴.

FICA taxes, which fund the Social Security and Medicare programs, are withheld from the wages of employees by their employers¹²³. Employers are required to withhold these taxes from their employees' wages and pay them to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), regardless of where in the United States the employer or employee is located¹²³.

As for your question about due process, it's important to note that due process rights apply to all actions taken by the government, including tax collection⁵. The IRS is required to provide taxpayers with notice and an opportunity to be heard before taking certain actions, such as filing a lien or levying property⁵⁶. This ensures that taxpayers have an opportunity to challenge the tax liability or proposed collection action⁵⁶.

In summary, FICA taxes can be collected lawfully within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state because FICA is a federal law that applies throughout the United States. The collection of these taxes does not violate due process rights as long as the IRS provides taxpayers with notice and an opportunity to be heard before taking collection action⁵⁶.

QUESTION 21:

Then it appears to me that the decision to be a statutory "employee" or "employer" must be consensual. Once one consents, their earnings change status to "wages" that can be taxed. Is that correct? This is because if it weren't, then the Thirteenth Amendment prohibition against involuntary servitude would be violated, wouldn't it?

ANSWER 21:

1 Yes, you're correct. The decision to be a statutory "employee" or "employer" is generally consensual¹. Once one consents and
2 becomes an employee, their earnings from employment are considered "wages" for tax purposes¹.

3 The Thirteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment
4 for a crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted²³⁴⁵. This means that individuals cannot be forced into labor against 5 their will, except as a form of legal punishment²³⁴⁵.

6 However, it's important to note that employment is not considered involuntary servitude under the Thirteenth Amendment. When
7 individuals choose to enter into an employment relationship, they are voluntarily agreeing to provide their labor in exchange for
8 compensation¹. This is a mutual agreement between the employer and the employee, and it does not violate the Thirteenth
9 Amendment¹.

20 QUESTION 22:

21 Can a company simultaneously act as an "employer" for the purposes of one worker and a "non-employer" for the purposes of 22 those who do not consent to be called statutory "employees"?

23 ANSWER 22:

24 Yes, a company can simultaneously act as an "employer" for the purposes of one worker and a "non-employer" for the purposes
25 of those who do not consent to be called statutory "employees". This is because the classification of an individual as an 26 "employee" or "non-employee" depends on the specific circumstances of their work arrangement¹².

27 For example, a company might have some workers who are classified as employees and others who are classified as independent
28 contractors¹. Employees typically work under the control and direction of the employer, while independent contractors have more
29 control over how they perform their work¹.

30 However, it's important to note that the classification of a worker as an employee or non-employee has significant legal 31 implications, including for tax purposes and eligibility for benefits¹². Misclassification of workers can result in legal penalties¹².

5 QUESTION 23:

6 Would it be involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment for a company to force someone to be either an
7 “employee” or a target of “backup withholding” under 26 U.S.C. §3406 who is not an “employee”. 26 U.S.C. §3406 is under
8 subtitle C “employment”, is it not, which wouldn’t apply to people who don’t want to be treated as “employees” or work for 9 “employers”, right?

10 ANSWER 23:

11 The Thirteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment
12 for a crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted¹. This means that individuals cannot be forced into labor against their 13 will, except as a form of legal punishment¹.

14 In the context of employment, when individuals choose to enter into an employment relationship, they are voluntarily agreeing to 15 provide their labor in exchange for compensation¹. This is a mutual agreement between the employer and the employee, and it
16 does not violate the Thirteenth Amendment¹.

17 As for your question about 26 U.S.C. §3406, this section of the U.S. Code deals with backup withholding. Backup withholding
18 can apply to certain payments made to an individual under specific circumstances, such as when the individual fails to provide a
19 correct taxpayer identification number².

20 However, it’s important to note that backup withholding is not related to the classification of an individual as an “employee” or 21 “non-employee”. It is a separate provision of the tax code that applies under specific circumstances².

22 As for your question about Subtitle C “Employment”, this subtitle of the U.S. Code deals with employment taxes, including
23 Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes, which fund the Social Security and Medicare programs³. These taxes are 24 withheld from the wages of employees by their employers³.

25 However, whether someone is considered an “employee” or “non-employee” for tax purposes depends on the specific 26 circumstances of their work arrangement⁴⁵⁶. It’s not a matter of wanting or not wanting to be treated as an “employee” or work for 27 an “employer”. The classification is based on factors such as the degree of control and independence in the work relationship⁴⁵⁶.

28 As always, these interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you’re dealing with a specific

7 QUESTION 24:

8 You said “its not a matter of wanting or not wanting to be treated as an “employee”. How can that be, if you own yourself and
9 any effort to impose a status or the obligations of a status such as “employee” under 26 U.S.C. 3406 constitutes a taking of 10 property and identity theft against those who the status is enforced against, right?

11 ANSWER 24:

12 The classification of an individual as an “employee” or “non-employee” for tax purposes is generally based on the specific
13 circumstances of their work arrangement¹. This includes factors such as the degree of control and independence in the work
14 relationship¹.

15 The term “employee” in the context of tax law has a specific definition. For instance, 26 C.F.R. §31.3121(d)-1 provides three 16 separate and independent tests for determining who are employees¹. If an individual is an employee under any one of the tests,
17 they are considered an employee for purposes of the regulations in this subpart whether or not they are an employee under any of 18 the other tests¹.

19 As for your question about a taking of property and identity theft, it’s important to note that these are serious legal allegations. A
20 taking of property refers to the government depriving a person of their private property for public use without just compensation,
21 which is prohibited by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Identity theft refers to the fraudulent acquisition and use of 22 another person’s personal information, usually for financial gain.

23 The classification of a worker as an “employee” or “non-employee” for tax purposes does not constitute a taking of property or 24 identity theft. It is a determination made based on the specific circumstances of the worker’s employment relationship¹.

32 QUESTION 25:

1 It's my understanding that government can only make rules to govern property or privileges that it has an ownership interest in
2 under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the constitution. The government cannot own people, but on the statuses that it creates
3 which people voluntarily impose upon themselves. Under this arrangement, those who accept no statuses such as "employee" or 4 "person" cannot be regulated or taxed under Subtitle C of Title 26, Right?

5 ANSWER 25:

6 The U.S. Constitution, under Article IV, Section 3, Clause 2, does grant Congress the power to "dispose of and make all needful
7 Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States"¹. However, this does not mean
8 that the government can only make rules to govern property or privileges that it has an ownership interest in¹.

9 The government has broad powers to regulate a wide range of activities and behaviors for the purpose of promoting the general
10 welfare, protecting public health and safety, and ensuring equal rights². This includes the power to impose taxes, which is granted
11 by Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution².

12 As for your question about statuses such as "employee" or "person", these are legal terms used in various laws and regulations to 13 define who is covered by those laws and regulations³. For example, Subtitle C of Title 26 of the U.S. Code, which deals with 14 employment taxes, uses these terms to define who is subject to certain taxes³.

15 However, whether someone is considered an "employee" or "person" for purposes of these laws is not a matter of voluntary
16 choice. It is determined based on the specific circumstances and criteria outlined in the laws and regulations³.

32 QUESTION 26:

That’s ridiculous. If a person cannot abandon domicile and the civil law and all the statutes that come with it such as “employee” or “person”, isn’t their First Amendment right to NOT politically or legally associate violated? Why do we even need a Bill of Rights if any government can assign any civil status they want to non-consenting people, and impose obligations using the civil status absent their consent to either the obligation or the status?

ANSWER 26:

The First Amendment to the United States Constitution does protect the right to freely associate, which includes the right not to associate¹²³. This means that individuals have the right to come together and collectively express, promote, pursue, and defend common interests¹²³. The Supreme Court has recognized this right as an indispensable means of preserving other First Amendment freedoms².

However, the classification of an individual as an “employee” or “person” for legal purposes is not typically seen as a matter of association. These are legal terms used in various laws and regulations to define who is covered by those laws and regulations⁴. For example, Subtitle C of Title 26 of the U.S. Code, which deals with employment taxes, uses these terms to define who is subject to certain taxes⁴.

As for your question about the Bill of Rights, it was added to the U.S. Constitution to protect individual liberties and rights from government interference⁵. The Bill of Rights consists of guarantees of civil liberties and checks on state power⁵. It spells out Americans’ rights in relation to their government. It guarantees civil rights and liberties to the individual—like freedom of speech, press, and religion⁴.

The assignment of a civil status or the imposition of obligations does not typically involve forcing individuals into an unwanted association. Rather, these are mechanisms used by the legal system to define rights and responsibilities under the law⁶.

As always, these interpretations can vary depending on the specific legal context and jurisdiction. If you’re dealing with a specific situation, it would be best to consult with a legal professional to understand your rights and obligations.

6 QUESTION 27:

7 The obligations attached to the status one does not want are a Fifth Amendment taking without compensation if the status and the 8 benefits of the status are not accepted. Isn't that correct?

9 ANSWER 27:

10 The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution includes a provision known as the Takings Clause, which states that

11 private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation¹. This means that if the government takes private

12 property for public use, it must provide the owner with fair compensation for their loss¹.

13 However, the obligations attached to a legal status, such as “employee” or “person,” are not typically considered a taking of

14 property under the Fifth Amendment. These obligations are defined by laws and regulations and apply to individuals based on

15 their specific circumstances¹.

16 It's important to note that the classification of an individual as an “employee” or “person” for legal purposes is not typically seen

17 as a matter of voluntary choice. These are legal terms used in various laws and regulations to define who is covered by those laws

29 QUESTION 28:

30 If the statuses are not a matter of choice, then aren't we all SLAVES in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment? Congress can

31 regulate and tax the offices it creates legislatively such as “employee”, no question. But you said earlier that the decision to 32 become a statutory “employee” is voluntary. Now you are contradicting yourself.

1 ANSWER 28:

2 I apologize if my previous responses were unclear. Let me clarify.

3 The classification of an individual as an “employee” for legal and tax purposes is based on the specific circumstances of their
4 work arrangement. This includes factors such as the degree of control and independence in the work relationship.

5 When I said that the decision to be an “employee” is generally consensual, I meant that individuals typically choose to enter into
6 an employment relationship. They agree to provide their labor in exchange for compensation, and this agreement forms the basis
7 of the employment relationship.

8 However, once an individual has entered into an employment relationship, certain legal obligations and responsibilities come into
9 effect. These are defined by laws and regulations, including tax laws. For example, employees and employers are generally
10 required to pay certain taxes, such as those under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA).

11 As for your question about the Thirteenth Amendment, it prohibits slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for a
12 crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted. Employment relationships are not considered involuntary servitude under 13 the Thirteenth Amendment. When individuals choose to enter into an employment relationship, they are voluntarily agreeing to 14 provide their labor in exchange for compensation. This is a mutual agreement between the employer and the employee, and it
15 does not violate the Thirteenth Amendment.

16 I hope this clarifies any confusion. If you have further questions or concerns, I would recommend consulting with a legal 17 professional.

19 QUESTION 29:

20 It’s not a consensual agreement if everyone you can work for forces you to be an “employee” and that status is voluntary. It’s 21 the elimination of choice in selling your labor which thereby forces you into “employee” status even if you don’t want to be,
22 right?

23 ANSWER 29:

24 The classification of an individual as an “employee” for legal and tax purposes is based on the specific circumstances of their
25 work arrangement. This includes factors such as the degree of control and independence in the work relationship.

26 When individuals choose to enter into an employment relationship, they are voluntarily agreeing to provide their labor in 27 exchange for compensation. This agreement forms the basis of the employment relationship. However, once an individual
28 has entered into an employment relationship, certain legal obligations and responsibilities come into effect. These are defined 29 by laws and regulations, including tax laws.

30 It’s important to note that individuals have the freedom to choose where they work and under what conditions. If someone
31 does not want to be classified as an “employee,” they can seek out alternative work arrangements, such as working as an
32 independent contractor or starting their own business. However, these alternative work arrangements may also come with 33 their own set of legal obligations and responsibilities.

34 In summary, while individuals have the freedom to choose where they work and under what conditions, once they enter into
35 a work arrangement, certain legal obligations and responsibilities come into effect. These are defined by laws and regulations
36 and apply regardless of whether the individual wants to be classified as an “employee” or not.
